Johnson Doubles Draft To Meet Viet Needs

Calls For U.N. Effort Toward Asian Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today he is adding 50,000 troops to U.S. forces in Viet Nam, doubling the draft call and asking the United Nations to start a new search for peace in the Southeast Asian war.

Johnson told a news conference:

1. The monthly draft call will jump from 17,000 to 35,000.
2. U.S. military forces in South Viet Nam will increase from 75,000 to 125,000 men.
3. He has directed Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg to go to New York immediately and to present to the United Nations secretary general "a letter from me requesting that all the resources, energy and immense prestige of the United Nations be employed to find ways to halt aggression and bring peace in Viet Nam."

UNITED NATIONS

Goldberg, successor to the late Adlai Stevenson, was scheduled to fly to New York and meet with Secretary General U Thant within three or four hours.

4. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will ask Congress for additional money to meet the increased costs of the U.S. effort in Viet Nam.
5. There is no need at this time to mobilize military reserve units or call national guard units to active duty.

The decision to put the Vietnamese peace quest up to the United Nations was a surprise move by the President — evidently made to emphasize the often-declared U.S. goal of simply protecting South Viet Nam from communist conquest.

RESERVE UNITS

The 50,000 man reinforcements will be sent immediately, Johnson said, adding that more men will be dispatched to the fighting if and as necessary.

In Minneapolis, Minn., the National Governors Conference went on record today, with two dissenting Republican votes, endorsing President Johnson's expansion of U.S. military strength in South Viet Nam. (See also, page 2.)

GOP Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon voted "no" on a motion of Gov. Carl E. Sanders, Georgia Democrat, to support the President's position, immediately after Johnson's televised report to the nation on decisions he has made in regard to Viet Nam.

There were some Republican complaints that the President still had not furnished sufficient details, as well as expressed hopes that he will be much

Troops Strafed In N. Viet To Save Pilot

Missile Base Raid Cost Five Planes, Officials Reveal

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. warplanes made their first announced direct attack on North Vietnamese troops in North Viet Nam today. They strafed an advancing Communist force to protect a downed pilot until he could me lifted to safety by helicopter.

The action 65 miles north of the border followed by 24 hours the first American aerial strikes at Soviet-supplied missile bases in the Hanoi area.

FIVE LOST

Military spokesmen said five U.S. Air Force F105 fighter-bombers were lost on the strikes yesterday. Pilots reported they destroyed one missile site and damaged another about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The spokesmen said three of the jets were shot down by conventional ground fire and two others crashed after colliding near their home base as they returned from the raids.

Planes involved in the action against the North Vietnamese troops were Navy fighter-bombers from the carrier Midway, a spokesman said. Newsmen were told mechanical trouble forced down a Navy A4 Skyhawk during raids on a group of bridges. The pilot parachuted.

GOOD CONDITION

North Vietnamese soldiers moved up a hill toward the plane but were held off by rocket-and cannon-fire of a half-dozen Navy Skyraiders, the spokesman said. Casualties, if any, among the troops were not determined.

A U.S. Air Force helicopter picked up the pilot. He was reported in good condition.

Meantime, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops joined in a sweep under guerrilla fire through rice paddies 60 miles south of Da Nang in an attempt to smash Viet Cong forces estimated to total three battalions. They overran the village of Duc An in a sweep toward the sea from a helicopter landing zone inland.

The Marines killed 12 Viet Cong and captured three. Amer-

LBJ Friend Gets Seat On Highest Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson announced today he will appoint Abe Fortas, a longtime friend and Washington attorney, to the Supreme Court to succeed Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg resigned to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations after serving three years following his selection by the late President John F. Kennedy.

The naming of Fortas continues the 50-year old tradition of having a Jewish justice. The practice began with the selection of Louis Brandeis in 1916.

The White House said only yesterday that Fortas had twice declined high government posts and told the President he was not interested in any federal job.

NBC Newsman To Head 'Voice'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today announced the appointment of John W. Chancellor, White House correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co., as the new director of the Voice of America.

Chancellor, 38, will succeed Henry Loomis, whose resignation was announced some time ago.

The President told a news conference this will be the first time in history that the Voice has been headed by a working newsman.

HUMPHREY, BROWN CUT A RUG

Wife Divorces Convicted Doctor

The Greenbrae wife of Dr. Sherman O. Wirt, 58, serving a Nevada State Prison term for slaying a Virginia City building contractor, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in a five-year-old complaint filed in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley granted the decree to Ann B. Wirt, 10 Corte Comoda, on grounds of cruelty. He awarded her $100 monthly alimony, restoration of her maiden name of Ann B. Middleton, and a share of community property yet undetermined.

Wallace S. Myers, who became Mrs. Wirt's attorney last July 21, said the uncontested action was concluded because original date of filing was Aug. 2, 1960, and the statute of limitations would have voided the complaint next month.

The complaint asked $500 per month alimony, listed community property as the Greenbrae home, a 1960 Chrysler car, and stocks and bonds of undetermined amount. It also asked $1,250 lawyer fees and claimed Dr. Wirt, who practiced in San Francisco, had an income then of over $1,500 monthly.

Mrs. Wirt was granted $300 temporary monthly alimony on Aug. 8, 1960 by Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court (now retired).

The couple wed May 18, 1954, following another divorce by Dr. Wirt, and separated July 31, 1960. There were no children.

Wirt and a woman companion, Helen Calani, 45, of Corte Madera, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter of Richard Ghilotti, 60, Virginia City contractor. Wirt is serving a five-to-10 year term; Mrs. Calani, one to 10 years.

Ghilotti was slain by four .38 caliber pistol shots at his home. Police said Wirt and Mrs. Calani had been drinking and went to Ghilotti's home to see a collection of Victorian era furniture.

Senate Sends Medicare Bill To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to President Johnson today the Social Security-health care bill establishing broad health protection as a matter of right for all Americans over 65.

The Senate passage, by a vote of 69 to 24, completed congressional action on the measure.

Its final passage climaxes a fight that began in 1935, with the writing of the original law, to include health care for the elderly benefits under Social Security.

The House passed yesterday, 307 to 116, the compromise version of legislation embodying the greatest single expansion of Social Security ever voted. The health-care portion ends a generation of effort in Congress to write such a provision into the Social Security System.

The Senate took up the measure yesterday but held up the final vote until today so that some absentees could be on hand.

Sponsors said they were certain Johnson would sign the bill this month, probably tomorrow or Friday, so that the increases in present Social Security benefits can come in September.

The $6.5-billion bill contains broad new health protection available to all 19 million Amer-

Hershey Ready To Meet Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said today he will have no difficulty providing 35,000 young men a month, the draft rate announced by President Johnson, if the armed forces can handle them.

Hershey also said he does not forsee any immediate changes in deferment policies, or changes which would affect married men between 19 and 26 who are now being passed over through not formally deferred.

"If I can get pre-induction examination I can fill 35,000 calls indefinitely," the general told a reporter.

U.S. Seeking End To Torture On Both Sides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is trying to end mistreatment or prisoners of war by both sides in the Vietnamese conflict, a State Department spokesman said.

He commented in response to reporters questions about news pictures showing South Vietnamese torturing captured Viet Cong guerrillas to get information. The Communist forces reportedly also use similar tactics.

"We are currently engaged in discussions with the South Vietnamese government and with the International Committee of the Red Cross to insure that the principles of the Geneva convention are adhered to by both sides in the Viet Nam conflict," the spokesman said.

Freitas Parkway Demand Brings Toll Road Threat

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Walter Freitas last night threatened to make a private toll road of the extension of Freitas Parkway to Sleepy Hollow, unless city and county will build the road.

His threat, however, failed to deter the San Rafael Planning Commission from voting 3-to-2 to require Alameda Homes, Inc., to put in half of the extension of the parkway past its 26-lot Terra Linda Unit 24, as a condition of approval of the tentative map.

Up to now, Freitas Parkway (half in the county and half in the city) has been built by developers as each subdivision was added.

"It is time," Freitas told the planning commission, "that the city and county get together and fulfill some of their commitments in regard to Freitas Parkway. . .

"If the city and county can't

Wartime Censorship Imposed At Hamilton

Hamilton Air Force Base, as well as other military bases, has been placed on a "wartime" censorship of news concerning Southeast Asia.

Maj.Paul K. Jones, head of the joint office of information at Hamilton, said today a directive has been received requiring Department of Defense approval of all news concerning anything in Southeast Asia.

State Agencies Worry On Assessor Scandal

OAKLAND (AP)—More state agencies have plunged into the inquiry as to whether certain employes of county assessors took money for reducing personal property assessments.

The state controller has ordered the State Franchise Tax Board to have a look. The State Board of Equalization wants to know if any of its employes are involved.

The Internal Revenue Service, the U.S. Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation also are reported interested.

Already district attorneys of seven counties have probed for evidence which is expected to be presented to grand juries.

A taped conversation describing how $25,000 in cash was passed to an assessor was to be heard behind closed doors today in Los Angeles, it was reported.

The San Francisco Chronicle said the tape is in the office of Assessor Philip E. Watson and records an interview he had with Norman Phillips, a central figure in the growing California scandal.

An assessor, Phillips was reported to have said, opened an envelope in his presence and counted out $25,000. This was alleged to have happened during an assessors convention in Fresno in 1963.

Watson was reported to have notified State Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch of his talk with Phillips, and Lynch responded by sending his deputy, Marshall Mayer, to Los Angeles to hear the tape.

Humphrey Says Nation Can Have Guns And Butter

Tones Down Viet Nam Talk At Governors' Conference

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nation's governors last night that President Johnson's new decisions on Viet Nam "touch the lives of thousands of American families" but he said Americans "can have both" guns and the Great Society.

Humphrey revised his original address before this 57th annual governors conference to place fresh stress on his statement that any impending build up for Viet Nam would not halt the country's domestic progress.

The vice president was applaused only eight times during his revised speech at the annual state dinner of the governors and their wives. But his audience, apparently conscious of today's presidential announcement on Viet Nam policy, listened intently.

"Today we face no choice between guns and schools, ammunition and medical care," Humphrey said. "This nation can have both—and we will have both in abundance.

"We need not tonight be heavy-laden and sorrowful."

The vice president's toned-down text, which originally referred to decisions affecting "hundreds of thousands of American families" and the expenditure of "great resources" in Viet Nam, was altered as Humphrey flew from Washington to his home town of Minneapolis Tuesday night.

There was little question that the original draft had been approved by the White House—in view of the President's scheduled announcement today on Viet Nam. But Humphrey's press spokesman said the Vice President made the changes on his own.

Humphrey's original text indicated that the President's decisions could mean a great cost of money, material and lives in Southeast Asia.

Governors Still Seem Jittery Over Viet War

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —The nation's governors appeared jittery about the trend of the war in Viet Nam today despite a toned-down speech by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey assuring them that the country can have both guns and butter.

The governors attending their annual conference heard Humphrey last night deliver a speech from which he had deleted some strong language about the impact of the military build up in Viet Nam, and said the Great Society could be achieved anyway. His speech still left the governors nervous.

"I thought it was a fine speech but I have some very grave misgivings of what it portends," said Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California. "I thought he was laying the foundation for something that I don't know about now."

Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield, in a statement shortly after Humphrey's address, said escalation of the Viet Nam war "is moving all of the people of the earth closer to World War III.

"The United States must exhaust ALL avenues toward peace," the Republican governor said. "We have no moral right to commit the world and especially our people to World War III unilaterally or by the decisions of a few experts."

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said he thought the Humphrey speech was "premonitory of a much more rugged discussion on Viet Nam" coming from the President today.

"I think he will tell us exactly how much trouble we're in and I think the American public will respond as it always has," Smylie said.

Retired Generals See Need For More Viet Nam Force

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some retired American generals who fought the Communists in Korea believe greater force is needed to bring victory in Viet Nam.

Four of the generals say there should be a single armed forces command for U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

One of the generals, Edward M. Almond, favors use of atomic bombs if "needed to protect our troops."

Gens. Mark Clark and John E. Hull say there is no present need for such a weapon in Viet Nam. However, Clark says he might change this view if there is increased participation by an outside Communist power, such as Red China.

The four generals — Almond, Clark, Hull and Matthew Ridgway—made their comments on Tuesday's 12th anniversary of the Korean armistice, in response to an Associated Press survey.

Almond, 72, commanded the 10th Army Corps which was hit by the first Communist attack in Korea.

Hull, 70, succeeded Clark as commander of U.N. forces in the Far East.

TAKE IT AWAY ON DOLLAR DAYS!

Shoppers will be able to load up on top values during San Rafael Dollar Days, judging by the action in the picture. William Bry, San Rafael merchant, gives the "up" signal, illustrating the big lift in what the dollar will buy during the two-day sale, while Mrs. Jeanne Scanlon, San Rafael, posing intrepidly, smiles at the thought of the bargains shoppers will find. Dollar Days, sponsored by the retail merchants committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, runs Friday and Saturday. Tomorrow's Independent-Journal features the bargains in a Dollar Days special section.

JOHNSON

more specific in a scheduled White House conference with the state executives tomorrow afternoon.

Earlier, Nevada Gov. Grant Sawyer announced that the governors would confer with the President on the Viet Nam situation tomorrow afternoon at the White House.

After his lengthy statements—they took about 25 minutes — Johnson opened the news conference to questions.

He was asked whether the United States is prepared with additional plans should North Viet Nam escalate its activity? And what about possible Chinese reaction to the steps he announced today he is taking?

Johnson said he did not wish to speculate on that. But, he added, "this country always will be prepared to protect the national interests."

Asked if he believes the war can be contained "in this corner of Southeast Asia" without involving a U.S.-Soviet confrontation, the President said "we hope very much that it could." He added that he intends to "avoid provoking" that confrontation.

Asked if Russian technicians are manning the missile sites in North Viet Nam, Johnson said he had no information on the matter.

In response to a question, Johnson said the sending of additional forces to Viet Nam does not imply any change in the policy of letting the South Vietnamese army carry the burden of the fighting with U.S. forces in primarily a back-up role.

Speaking of his own dreams as President, Johnson said he wants to promote education, equal opportunity, better housing and improved health.

"And I do not want to see all those hopes — the dreams of so many people for so many years — ground in the wasteful ravages of war."

Johnson pledged that "I will do all I can so that never happens."

The President opened the news conference by reading a 1,200-word statement that grew out of a week of high-level policy talks here on Viet Nam. He noted that "15 efforts have been made to start discussions" with the Communists aimed at peace — all without response.

"But we will persist, if persist we must," he said, "until death and desolation have led to the same conference table where others could not join us at so much smaller cost."

Two Districts' Annexations Get By LAFC

The Marin County local agency formation commission last night approved annexation of St. Vincent's School property and adjacent property totaling about 440 acres to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Commissioners approved annexation of 1.2 acres between Mission and Sea View Avenues, San Rafael, to the San Rafael Sanitation District. The 1.1 acres covered combined applications of Angelo Colombo and Jack DiMaggio.

There were no protests made at the meeting, as only representatives of the applicants appeared. Commissioners H. G. Marchant and J. Wayne Womack were absent.

Woman Slightly Hurt In Novato Accident

Edith E. Shumate, 79, of 185 Oleander Drive, San Rafael, apparently suffered only slight injury yesterday in a two-car collision on Highway 101 in Novato at 11:35 a.m.

She was in a car driven by Jeretta Russell, 64, of the same address, when it slowed for northbound traffic two miles south of Grant Avenue and was struck in the rear by a car driven by James R. Gilmor of Petaluma, highway patrolmen reported. Mrs. Shumate was checked for complaint of a headache at San Rafael General Hospital.

High School Revue Slated For Novato

"No Show Tonight," a revue by the summer drama class at Novato High School, will be presented on 8:30 p.m. on Aug. 5 and 6 at Hill Junior High School, Novato.

Quiett Resigns His CORE Chairmanship

Douglas J. Quiett resigned last night as chairman of the Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, which he founded two and one-half years ago. John F. Gardenhire of San Rafael was named temporary chairman.

Quiett, who lives in Tiburon, said he resigned because of the press of other duties.

Approve Lot Split

A lot split proposed by Mrs. Dawn Worth at 410 Elm Avenue, Larkspur, was approved by the Larkspur Planning Commission last night.

firm of Arnold, Fortas, and Porter.

Johnson confirmed that Fortas "has told me on many occasions" that he would not accept appointment to any public office. But he said it was a case where "the job has sought the man."

"This is not a call that any citizen can reject," the President said.

Johnson said Fortas is recognized by leaders of many walks of life "as one of the nation's most able and respected citizens" and he was "proud for the country" to name him to the high court.

Novato Revisited By Rabies Clinic

The Marin County Health Department held another rabies vaccination clinic at Marion School in Novato last night and 366 dogs got the point of the thing.

The series of clinics will conclude tomorrow at the Point Reyes Station firehouse from 6 to 8 p.m. Thus far in six clinics, 2,355 dogs have been vaccinated; last year 2,774 were treated in 12 clinics.

Vaccination fee is $2.

Takes Overdose

Toby Schneider, 45, of 825 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, was treated by her physician yesterday after she took 18 Seconal pills in her apartment. The dosage could have been fatal, her doctor told San Rafael police.

Two More Inmates Flee Honor Camp

San Quentin Prison minimum security camps in Northern California have become something of a revolving door. Since Saturday, three prisoners have run off and one of them has been recaptured.

Joaquin Romero, 29, of Fresno County escaped Saturday night from a Mendocino County honor camp. He was caught yesterday while robbing a food store in South San Francisco, but within 24 hours two other prisoners were missing, from Camp 11 near Weott in Humboldt County.

They are Benny French, 35, of Butte County and Alvin E. Austin, 35, of Los Angeles County. French had been serving time since September, 1961, for assault with intent to commit robbery and second degree robbery.

He started his term in 1959, and was paroled in 1961. The parole violation of the robbery put him back in prison, but he had been granted new parole just 16 days ago, effective when he presented an approved parole plan.

Austin had been serving time since March, 1961, for first degree robbery, which carries a term of five years to life. The pair was declared missing at midnight, and presumably are wearing prison denims.

Romero was serving two terms of five years to life and two of six months to 10 years. He had been at the honor camp off and on since 1962, and was due to come before the parole board again next May. He has been paroled once, in 1958, and was returned for grand theft, robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

He has been in the prison system since 1953, when he was 18 years old.

ican and Vietnamese casualties were termed light.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that 12 Americans were killed in action in Viet Nam and 70 others were wounded during the week that ended July 24. He said three more American service men were captured or missing during the period.

An unconfirmed report reached Saigon today that Donald Dawson, the American sailor who came to Viet Nam to trace his missing brother, was seen in Viet Cong captivity early this month.

Dawson, 25, of Astoria, Calif., came to Viet Nam in January after his older brother, Lt. Daniel L. Dawson, a U.S. Army pilot, was shot down in the jungle in November.

Chamber May Change Dates Of Fall Festival

San Rafael Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday asked chamber manager Jack Alvarado to meet with the merchants' business development committee and ask their approval to change the dates of this year's Autumn Festival from Sept. 17 and 18 to Sept. 7-11.

The directors want to change the dates in order to assist and welcome the statewide convention of the Native Sons of the Golden West assembling in San Rafael Sept. 9, Alvarado explained today.

He said the directors feel they can add emphasis to the convention and its parade through San Rafael Sept. 9 by moving up the festival dates.

He said he has called a meeting of the business development committee in the chamber offices Monday at 8 a.m.

Booklet Explains Medicare Plan

Persons born in 1902, or earlier, qualify for Medicare benefits without any "quarters of coverage."

That is one of the many provisions in the new Medicare/Social Security legislation about to be signed into law.

The multitude of benefits, costs, requirements and qualifications are simply and clearly explained in a great new newspaper series and booklet available to readers of the Independent-Journal, exclusively in this area.

"What You've Got Coming from Medicare and Social Security . . . A Complete Guide to Your Legal Rights." is the title of both the series and booklet. The title exactly describes the contents: readers will discover just exactly what they do have coming from the sweeping new legislation.

Pages and pages of complex information have been expertly sifted and digested into this easy-to-understand series and booklet written especially for newspaper readers by a veteran newsman and writer on Social Security legislation.

John Troan, who has specialized in Social Security, medical and scientific reporting for Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance, has had a ringside seat on legislative action since 1958. He has written intensively about Social Security since 1940. He has been called "America's most qualified newspaperman" to write about Medicare and Social Security.

The Independent-Journal's readers are being offered this great opportunity to read the 14-part series in their newspaper pages and to reserve their personal copy of the permanently bound, colorfully illustrated book, which is expanded from the series.

For only $1 a reader may own this family security handbook with its bonus of a family security planning chart. The chart provides space to record numerous vital financial, insurance and securities information.

The book is the first single-volume treatment of the complex new law, clearly explaining the many benefits, provisions, costs and qualifications of Medicare/Social Security.

Readers may reserve a copy of "What You've Got Coming from Medicare and Social Security" now by using the convenient coupon below. It will be mailed as soon as the new legislation is signed into law.

The first part of the series clearly defining and illuminating the many facets of the new Social Security bill will be announced soon.

It also increases all present Social Security checks — for retirees, disabled persons and family survivors — by 7 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1. Checks going to 20 million beneficiaries will be increased.

Everyone is guaranteed an increase of at least $4 a month. An individual who has been receiving the present retirement minimum, $40, will get $44. One who has been receiving the maximum, $127, will have his check increased to $135.90. Couples in which the wife also is of retirement age get 50 per cent above the single person's figure in each case.

The health program is in two parts:

1. A basic plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, posthospital nursing-home care, outpatient hospital dianostic services, and some health visits.

2. A voluntary supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as some other services not included in the basic plan.

Three Areas Given Rezoning Approval

Three rezonings were approved without debate by the San Rafael Planning Commission after public hearings last night.

Commissioners unanimously recommended rezoning of:

The 90-acre Northgate Industrial Park of the Draper Companies, now unclassified, as heavy commercial and manufacturing district with off-street parking requirements.

The American Legion Hall property at Fourth and Union streets (now leased by the city for a recreation center) from apartments to general commercial use.

All properties in the 65-acre Francisco Boulevard Assessment District, now partly heavy commercial-manufacturing and partly unclassified, as planned commercial-light industrial with off-street parking requirements.

There had been only one objection to the Legion property rezoning, and none to the other two, at the first public hearings two weeks ago.

With V. Judson Klein as acting chairman in the absence of Fred C. Robbins Jr., the planning commission also:

1. Put over to Aug. 10 consideration of additions to the proposed slope policy to make it apply to properties along existing sub-standard streets.
2. Continued to Aug. 10 the second public hearing on proposed zoning ordinance amendments to permit cluster development in residential zones, as City Planner George H. Rodgers said he did not have ready a requested analysis of similar ordinances in other cities.
3. Approved final maps of three Twelveoak Hill developments by Marin Master Builders: Unit 4 of five lots on an extension of Pine Hill Court, Unit 5 of 97 lots on Lucas Valley Road, and Unit 6 of 52 lots on an extension of Canyon Oak Drive.

Brooklyn Jury Clears Officer

NEW YORK (AP)—A Kings County (Brooklyn) grand jury has exonerated a 24-year-old white policeman who shot and killed a Negro ex-convict in a sidewalk struggle.

The grand jury reported Tuesday that patrolman Sheldon Liebowitz "acted in a lawful and justifiable manner in defense of himself" against Nelson Erby, 28.

The grand jury, which heard 37 witnesses, reported that the facts failed to warrant an indictment.

Puerto Rico Status Report Delay Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill extending until Sept. 30, 1966, the time for submission of a final report by the U.S.-Puerto Rico Commission on the status of Puerto Rico.

The measure also raises from $250,000 to $465,000 funds available to the commission for its studies of all factors having a bearing on the future relationship between the United States and Puerto Rico.

Mayor, Bride On Honeymoon

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP)—A private plane whisked New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner and his bride to this Gulf of Mexico island for a 10-day honeymoon in seclusion.

The mayor and the former Barbara Joan Cavanagh flew here from Tampa yesterday after a flight from New York, where they were married Monday.

Marco Island is about 50 miles south of Fort Myers.

Tot Gets Teacher Confused With LBJ

ABILENE, KAN. (AP)—Cynthia Davis, who will start school next fall, visited the school and met her future teacher, a Miss Johnson.

Asked later for the teacher's name she said she wasn't sure but "I think it was President."

Permit Hearing Due San Rafael Nursery School

A full house was promised the San Rafael Planning Commission last night for a public hearing on a nursery school permit application on Aug. 10.

The commission, on suggestion of City Planner George H. Rodgers, scheduled the hearing on Johnnie Bunch's application for a permit for a nursery school for at least 100 children in the old Coleman School building at Grand Avenue and Linden Lane. Public hearings are not usually held on use permit applications.

John C. Bernt of the legal firm of Bagley, Bernt and Bianchi, who own the property, opposed the public hearing, seeking to have the issue decided last night. He said the property "has been lying fallow for 15 months" and a sale to Bunch is conditioned on the use permit.

"This property has been used for a school for some 60 years," argued Bernt. (The old Coleman School was long ago abandoned, and the property was sold by the San Rafael Elementary School District to the County of Marin, which housed planning, building and public works departments and the county library in the old building until the Civic Center was built.)

Attorney Max Thelen Jr. of 199 Mountain View Avenue, representing residents of the neighborhood, recalled a large turnout to oppose Bagley, Bernt and Bianchi's application for administrative-professional zoning for the parcel last year, and predicted a bigger turnout—at least 100—to protest the nursery school.

"I don't know whether this room will be big enough or not," said Thelen.

"The idea of bringing in 100 people to oppose something that's been in use 60 years somewhat grates me," grated Bernt.

Terra Lindan Named

William J. Ehringer of 720 Knochnaboul Way, Terra Linda, is assistant chairman of a committee to organize the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce's main fund raising event of the year: auto races at Candlestick Park, San Francisco, scheduled for Aug. 7 and 8.

Freitas Parkway Demand Brings Threat Of Toll Road Construction

get together, I think Mr. Wheeler and we will get together and build a private toll road." (The Freitas Estate and Calvin C. B. Wheeler own nearly all the property through which the parkway extension would pass.)

"What would you hook your toll road into?" asked Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole.

"Fawn Drive," said Freitas.

(A county proposal to extend Freitas Parkway to Fawn Drive some time ago brought heavy protests from Sleepy Hollow residents.)

Freitas said he had a letter written in 1960 and signed by all five members of the San Rafael City Council at that time, promising "to do all in our power" to see that Freitas Parkway was extended to provide access from Ross Valley. The letter was used to help persuade the Emporium to locate its store in Northgate.

City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson said there was such a letter, "but nothing in that letter said the city would build it. I know because I wrote the letter."

Freitas conceded that "you were very careful with your language."

The tentative map of Terra Linda Unit 24 before the planning commission did not include the extension of Freitas Parkway. The subdivision as shown ends at the line of extension of the present road and has no parkway access beyond the parkway's present terminus.

Freitas and Carlos Gonzales, engineer for Alameda Homes, said the parkway would not serve the subdivision, therefore there was no need to include it.

City Planner George H. Rogers recommended that extension of the parkway and improvement of half of it be conditions for approving the map.

In moving this, Commissioner Pat Hetherson said, "I think we have responsibility to require dedication and improvement of this street."

Commissioner O'Toole pointed out that John R. Kenney of Alameda Homes "does not own the land" on the parkway extension right-of-way.

"He probably doesn't own the land shown on the map, either," retorted Commissioner V. Judson Klein, who was acting chairman in the absence of Fred C. Robbins Jr.

Klein, Hetherton and Commissioner John A. Miskimen voted to require the street extension as a condition of approving the map. O'Toole and Commissioner Carl S. Brown dissented.

Gonzalez indicated the condition will be appealed to the city council.

Vote Rights Bill Is Bogged Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts of Senate-House conferees to reach agreement on a voting rights bill and hasten final congressional action have bogged down in dispute over two key issues.

"The next move is up to the House," Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said, after reporting House conferees had balked at what he called "a very acceptable compromise" between the versions of the bill passed by the Senate and House.

No date for another meeting of the conference committee was set after a fifth session Tuesday broke up in disagreement.

Lawn Equipment Stolen From Truck

Theft of lawn trimming equipment worth $150 has been reported to sheriff's officers by Viola R. Bidegain, 840 Sutro Avenue, Novato.

The victim said a trimmer and a mower were taken from the rear of a pickup truck either while in San Rafael last Sunday or while parked at home.

Broemmel Gets School's Praise

Directors of the Henry George School of Social Science last night passed a resolution complimenting County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel for "honest and courageous adherance to the letter and spirit of the law in the pursuit of his duties."

The resolution was made "in the light of recent alleged malfeasance in the offices of various assessors."

Dr. William Filante was elected president of the Marin branch of the school. He succeeds Dr. Duval B. Jaros.

Psychiatrist Named To New County Job

Dr. Robert A. Ott of San Rafael, formerly a staff psychiatrist at Napa State Hospital, Monday was appointed to serve as a psychiatrist with Marin County Community Mental Health Services.

Supervisors appointed Ott to the new position effective Aug. 1 at $1,333 a month salary.

Arm will heal

Re-Implanted Arm Mending After Break

BOSTON (AP) — Everett Knowles, 15, has broken one of the most important right arms in medical history.

The frisky, freckle-faced teenager, whose arm was cut off more than three years ago by a wheel of a slow work train but was then successfully re-implanted, fell recently from a stone wall — and landed on the still highly sensitive arm.

The Associated Press has learned that the boy was then rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital where some of the surgeons who performed the original operation re-examined the arm.

They worked late into the night a week ago yesterday and found that the arm had been broken less than an inch from where it had been torn from his body in the freight yard accident.

It was on May 23, 1962 that the doctors had performed what is believed to be the first operation in which a human limb was successfully rejoined to the body. Since then there have been several others.

The hospital confirmed today that young Knowles will have to remain hospitalized for several weeks because of the break and a knee injury also suffered in the fall.

Mitchell Foresees No Tax Hike Due To Equalization Hearings

Although Marin County supervisors have been granting assessment reductions to the majority of residents who have protested at equalization hearings, it does not appear the reductions will change the projected county tax rate of $2.19 per $100 assessed valuation.

Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported today that as of Monday, the board had granted 150 reductions totaling $137,830.

If this trend continues, the reductions will be within the $800,000 Mitchell allowed for assessment reductions when he predicted the tax rate.

Supervisors are conducting night hearings this week in an effort to meet the Aug. 10 hearing deadline.

They received 898 protests and, through Monday, had heard 267 cases, about 30 per cent of the total.

The projected $2.19 county tax rate applies to property owners relying solely on the county fire department for fire protection has been projected at $2.27 per $100 assessed valuation.

Ketchikan, Alaska, is the wettest city in the continental United States, being inundated by 150 inches of rain annually, says the National Geographic.

Home owners living in areas that are subject to high winds, and who are considering reroofing, are advised by roofing experts to investigate self-sealing shingles. These are treated on the underside with an adhesive that will hold them down evene in hurricane - force winds.

U.S. Must Pay Elderly Woman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $6,240 judgment has been awarded to a 71-year-old woman injured last year by wind blasts from President Johnson's helicopter.

Mrs. Margaret Lovell of Concord, complained that the helicopter sent debris flying and smashed a chair into her leg, causing serious lacerations.

At the time, the President was visiting the site of ceremonies for the proposed Bay Area Rapid Transit system.

By feeding pigeons with grain treated with birth control drugs, New York hopes to eliminate pigeons from streets and parks.

UC Uprising Was Led By Smartest Students

BERKELEY (AP) — A British sociologist says Berkeley's smartest students were the most ardent backers of the Free Speech Movement that stirred up unrest at the University of California last fall.

A survey, conducted by visiting Prof. Kathleen Gales of the London School of Economics, indicated that 67 per cent of the brightest students supported the movement.

Prof. Gales said she interviewed a random sample of 525 students. She said 33 per cent strongly approved the movement, 29 per cent mildly approved, 17 per cent mildly disapproved and 21 per cent strongly disapproved.

Only 25 per cent of the students with the lowest grade averages supported the movement. Social science majors gave the movement the strongest support, and business administration majors the strongest disapproval.

Cub Bear Poisoned

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A 4-month-old black bear cub has died in a local zoo after he was fed mothballs by vandals, police say. The cub was born at the zoo this spring.

Jail Sentence Begins For UC Student

BERKELEY (AP) — Anthony Brown, 29, of San Diego has started serving his jail sentence for participating in the University of California sit-in here last December.

He began a five-day sentence Tuesday after he turned down Judge Rupert Crittenden's offer for a one-year probation.

Brown had pleaded no contest to charges of trespassing and resisting arrest. Crittenden fined him $50 and sentenced him to a year's probation.

Brown told the court he preferred the jail sentence because his activities during the probationary period might violate the conditions of the probation.

First he asked the court to delay his jail sentence so he could participate in a protest in Washington, D. C. early in August.

"I'm not playing games here," the judge answered.

Brown then asked that he be allowed to start serving his sentence immediately.

"Why certainly," Crittenden said.

Brown was taken immediately to Santa Rita Prison Farm.

Two others refused probation. They were Joel Brodsky, 28, and Michael J. Smith, 24. Each was given a choice of a $250 fine or 25 days in jail.

Forty-nine persons who had pleaded no contest were sentenced to $50 and a year's probation. Defendants who pleaded innocent to charges have received stiffer penalties.

Most were fined $166, given 10-day suspended jail terms and one or two years' probation.

Bears Won't Quit Finding Their Chow

CLOUDCROFT, N.M. (AP) — Residents thought they had their bear problem licked when they fenced in and locked the village dump where bears gathered at night to eat.

Later, home owners built bear-proof garbage can protectors or wired the cans to give the bears a mild electric shock. But the bears have learned where the harmless garbage cans are, and help themselves.

Newest UC Chancellor Is Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Roger William Heyns doesn't "regard the University of California as some kind of bankrupt organization that only needs some knight in shining armor from the east to come in as some kind of peace corps."

Heyns, leaving his job as vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan, said:

MORE PUBLICIZED

"Everyone at Michigan kept reminding me that the only difference between Michigan and California was that California's problems are more publicized."

He said educators have not coped adequately with the new generation of politically and socially aware students in a way to encourage their interests and at the same time maintain educational integrity.

"We can't tell them 'don't be interested in world problems now, be interested two years from now'."

DISCOUNTS THREAT

Heyns discounted communism as a big threat on college campuses, saying, "I don't attribute any significance to the communist conspiracy."

The new UC chancellor said nothing was done to stop former FSM chieftain Mario Savio from speaking at the Michigan campus — although the rules were violated — because "we weren't going to create an incident and make a martyr of Savio."

Heyns said the rule that only sponsor-accredited persons may speak on campus was blinked because "we had confidence it would be an orderly affair."

NO INSTRUCTIONS

Of his job in California, Heyns said, "nobody has said to me 'you've got to go in and knock heads together'."

Of the theory of civil disobedience on campus, he said:

"It should never be necessary for civil disobedience to be used as a technique for influencing university policies.

"The procedures and mechanisms for adjusting grievances should be trusted. If they're not trusted by students and faculty we have to improve them.

"If student groups feel that the only way to get change is to picket the chancellor's house, then something is wrong."

Study Group On Tidelands Is Suggested

County supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said yesterday a citizens group should study the possibility of preserving tidelands as open space.

The group should "find a way to get tidelands set aside and at the same time give private owners access," he said.

Kettenhofen's comment came at an equalization board hearing when Mrs. John Heib of 396 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, protested a tidelot assessment. Mrs. Heib contended she was paying not only for her view but also for the view of "the people on the hill and the people on the highway." She said her tidelands were not usable.

The board denied Mrs. Heib's bid for a reduction in her assessment.

Youngster Killed Fleeing Motorcycle

GOSHEN (AP)—Albert Renteria Pena, 9, of rural Goshen was killed yesterday when he ran in front of a motorcycle while trying to get out of its way.

Ramon Castro, also 9, told Highway Patrol officers he was walking on West Frontage Road with his brother, Frank, 7, and Pena when a motorcycle approached. Castro and his brother ran out of danger, but Pena ran into the path of the cycle, the boys said.

Reed Teachers Granted Raises

Forty-seven of the 70 teachers in Reed School District last night won five per cent pay hikes from trustees who also granted three per cent raises to about 38 non-teachers.

Trustees agreed to consider raises for the district's three school principals at the Aug. 3 meeting, at which the $1,173,060 budget is expected to be adopted. Raises granted last night did not affect the budget total, which trustees had previously approved.

Trustee chairman David D. Ring said the trustees would hold a closed session Aug. 3 to discuss salaries of principals. Also to be considered would be the salary of Supt. Edward C. Pino, Trustee James B. Atkin suggested.

(There is no legal provision for a closed meeting for such a purpose.)

After Ring suggested the closed meeting on salaries, Pino said it would be for "analysis of further employment" of district administrators, although all are under contract extending beyond this year.

Pino in April was given a four-year contract by the board. The three principals were granted two-year contracts, all at their present salaries. Pino said at that time that raises would depend on the effect of reassessment of the Tiburon peninsula.

The superintendent said today it had been decided after last night's meeting that a closed session would be held only if principals do not agree with raises which the board proposes, so an actual decision would have to be made on whether or not they would remain with the district. (This decision was not made during last night's meeting.)

Funds for the raises approved last night came from already budgeted totals and from the $60,000 reserve fund in the budget and another $16,000 in savings and added income from the last fiscal year which will be added to the reserves.

The raise in teachers' salaries will cost a total of $27,515; the non-teaching staff pay hike will cost $4,700.

The basic starting salary for a teacher in the Reed District will be $6,125, for teachers having a master's degree and some teaching experience. The consensus of trustee opinion last night was that the district would continue its four-year-old policy of hiring only those with a master's degree and experience.

Of the approximately 70 teachers in the district, 47 will be affected by the change in the pay scale. The remainder, who have less than a master's degree or its equivalent, got no raise. Their salaries range from $5,000 to $7,875.

Top salary in the district will be $11,225 for a teacher with 12 years teaching experience (at least five of it in the district) and having a bachelor's degree plus 60 units of additional college credit or a master's degree plus 30 units.

Teachers had asked for a six per cent increase and gained agreement from Trustee Alyce L. Forkas, who voted against the five per cent raise, holding out for the higher figure.

Trustees also agreed to continue pay to "lead teachers," who take the place of principals when they are not at schools, an additional $200 yearly. There will be four lead teachers next fall.

They agreed to pay the seven "team leaders," teachers who lead teaching teams, an additional $500 yearly.

Trustees next week will consider whether to award teachers with master's or doctor's degrees an additional $100 yearly for each degree; whether to implement the long-talked-of "open end" salary schedule in which teachers could continue to gain raises off the end of the scale for additional study; whether funds should be made available for teacher research projects.

Strep Still Leading Diseases In County

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, announced 11 cases of streptococcus infections were reported to her office during the week ending Saturday.

Six cases of gonorrhea, one case of measels, four cases of syphillis and two cases of tuberculosis were also reported.

Marinites Deny Charges In Petaluma

Pleas of innocent were entered in Petaluma Justice Court today by five San Rafael men arrested June 20 after a fist fight at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

Jury trial for the men was set for Sept. 14 at the Petaluma Justice Court. The men are:

Louis M. Molles, 28, of 11 Roger Drive, charged with resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and battery on a police officer; Richard W. Gudgel, 19, of 15 Charlotte Drive, charged with resisting arrest, disturbing the peace, inciting a riot and battery on a police officer; Ronald D. Abrao, 21, of 609 C Street, disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and inciting a riot; Thomas D. Palmer, 19, of 523 D Street, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest; and Frank E. Molles, 25, of 83 Woodland Avenue, disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and inciting a riot.

Hub Council Avoids Action On Big Items

Action on nearly half of the items on the San Anselmo City Council agenda last night was postponed because two councilmen were absent.

Councilman William Franchini is on vacation. John M. Reichmuth was on emergency duty at Fort Mason, where he is employed.

After lengthly discussions on three matters, including adoption of an ordinance banning uninvited door-to-door salesmen, the council put off making decisions on them until Aug. 24.

Further discussion on request by Daryl G. McClelland of 147 Humboldt Avenue for removal of a fire hydrant in front of his house at city expense was continued until Aug. 10.

Several of McClelland's neighbors joined with him in urging repeal of an ordinance banning parking on city streets from 2 to 6 a.m.

Action on an appeal by Harold Sharrow from planning commission denial of rezoning for commercial use property at the rear of 528 Red Hill Avenue also was postponed until Aug. 24. The property is now zoned multiple residential.

The council postponed, also to Aug. 24, action to resolve a dispute between the city and John Ongaro concerning the basis on which appraisals were made on Ongaro property which the city seeks to buy.

The city's appraisers valued the 14,000 square feet on the west side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, south of Center Boulevard, at about $20,000. Ongaro's appraiser said the property, wanted by the city for construction of parking lot "A", is worth $57,000.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Approved the county master plan for parks, recreation and open space, on recommendation of Paul N. Brand, Parks and recreation commission chairman, and Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director.

2. Approved a lot split by Mrs. J. Williams on property on the Alameda, across from Brookside School, recommended by the planning comumission.

3. Introduced amendments to the animal control ordinance, to make is conform to that of the county..

4. Requested preliminary plans for a street improvement project from Tunstead to Bolinas avenues be presented at the Aug. 10 meeting.

5. Set for 8 p.m. Aug 24 public hearing on abandonment of a portion of Creek Road.

6. Approved construction of a driveway into the Center Market parking lot at 1119 San Anselmo Avenue within five feet of the street corner, as requested by Victor Turken. City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt reported no traffic hazard would be created by granting the request.

Hub Man Is Sought In Bottle-Throwing

Warrant for arrest of Craig Gerard Corwin, 32, of San Anselmo, charged with throwing a bottle of automobile whitewall tire cleaner at a passing motorist, has been issued in Marin Municipal Court.

The misdemeanor complaint was filed yesterday and bail set at $250. Corwin, of 2 Carmel Way, allegedly hurled the bottle and contents at Gregory Christopher Arata of 6 Marinda Court, Fairfax, last Sunday.

DINGUS BURNS, GINGUS USES FIRE ALARM

The raccoon, named Gingus, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Ahlfeldt.

Mrs. Ahlfeldt said Gingus aroused the family about 6 a.m. by banging a bedroom door against a bureau. She said she found the apartment filled with smoke, but was able to pull the plug on the fan and ventilate the apartment.

Mrs. Ahlfeldt's husband was at work. He is an animal Keeper at the Baltimore Zoo.

Clausen Casts Vote Against Medicare

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First California District, was one of seven California Republicans who voted against the Medicare bill yesterday in Washington, D.C.

Of the 15 Republican representatives from California, eight voted for the measure and seven opposed it. All 23 Democratic members of the California congressional delegation voted for the bill.

Wife, Husband Have Date, But Just Don't Know Where

Earl and Betty Kirk have been on the road for some time now, living out of their camper truck. Monday they drove into Marin County and began looking for a home to settle down.

The couple stayed at the El Camino Motel at Mission and Lincoln avenues in San Rafael Monday night. All day yesterday they looked at houses.

At about 10:30 p.m. Mrs. Kirk told her husband she was tired and they agreed that she should get a motel in San Rafael for the night while he continued to roam the area in the truck.

"We will meet tomorrow," they agreed just before he drove off.

"Where?" Mrs. Kirk wondered as the car drove out of sight.

She called San Rafael police and explained her predicament. Police, in turn, issued an all-points bulliten for Kirk. For the rest of the night officers on patrol throughout the county watched for his truck. It was not seen.

Shortly after dawn today, Mrs. Kirk again called the police and said her husband had not yet returned. (She decided to stay the night again at the El Camino Motel in hopes he would return there.) She said she would call again if he turned up.

At mid-morning, San Rafael police had not received that telephone call.

Parents' Session

A second discussion for parents of neurologically handicapped children will be held at the DeWitt Reading Clinic, 1543 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow, sponsored by the California Assn. for Neurologically Handicapped Children.

Teen-Ager, Kittens Set Out For Around-World Voyage

SAN PEDRO (AP) — The sloop Dove sailed yesterday for Hawaii. The crew: Lee Graham, 16, and two kittens.

The youth hopes to become the youngest person ever to sail alone from the mainland to Hawaii. His trip would roughly duplicate that completed last week by Mrs. Sharon Sites, 34, who became the first woman to make the voyage.

Graham, however, plans to continue beyond Hawaii—to circle the globe in his 24-foot fiberglass sailboat.

The youth's vessel carries elaborate safety equipment and sailing aids. He has a radio receiver but has no transmitter with which to call for help or report his position.

Tachometer Stolen

Novato Approves New Annexations

The Novato City Council last night continued its efforts to keep Novato the fastest growing city in Marin County in area as well as population.

It gave final approval to two small annexations and tentative approval to a major one.

The council approved annexation of the Hune subdivision of three acres on Center Road and Theresa Court, of seven and one-half acres owned by Roberts and Aguirre, adjacent to the Novato Sanitary District office at the end of Davidson Street.

It gave tentative approval to annexation of 618 acres of the Richardson Ranch on Highway 37.

The one-owner Richardson Ranch annexation would take the city limits east along both the north and south sides of Highway 37 beyond the Black Point interchange to Atherton Avenue. It has not yet been before the county boundary commission, Planning Director Robert Lagle said.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved the tentative map of San Jose Court subdivision of 25 lots on six acres at the end of Ignacio Boulevard for Sylvester and Maria Cervantes, eliminating one lot reached by a 20-foot private road.
2. Approved an agreement with Dalton, Graupner and Barber of San Rafael to audit the city's books. Cost will be $1,350, compared to $1,100 last year.
3. Hired architect Gordon Phillips of San Rafael to prepare plans for remodeling the police station and the Morrison house adjacent to the station. The city purchased the house from George D. Morrison at 909 Sherman Avenue and leased it back to him until April, 1966.
4. Approved payment of $1,600 to Samuel Zanco of 1711 Center Road for right of way on Center Road.
5. Introduced an ordinance extending the time for licensing of dogs until Aug. 31, to conform to the rest of the county. Licenses heretofore have been delinguent on July 31.
6. Rezoned from single family residential to professional administrative a lot on Novato Boulevard west of Seventh Street owned by Dr. Daniel J. Aughney.
7. Received a letter from A. E. Bagshaw, secretary of Redwood Sanitary Landfill Inc., advising the dump is kept open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily except major holidays. This information had been requested by Councilman William Jack Adams.
8. Went into a closed session until 11:25 p.m., then appointed James F. McConnell of 653 McClay Road to the parks and recreation commission to fill the term of Kenneth Morrison, who resigned, until Dec. 31, 1966.

Motorcycle Stolen From San Anselman

A 1965 model Yamaha motorcycle, owned by Douglas H. Sullivan of 11 Durham Road, San Anselmo, was reported stolen last night.

Sullivan told police he parked the cycle in the driveway at 1537 San Anselmo Avenue at 7:30 p.m. and discovered it was stolen at 11:30 p.m. The key was in the ignition.

Fire Chiefs To Meet

Marin County Fire Chiefs Assn. members will meet Aug. 4 at 10 a.m. at San Anselmo fire department. A meeting set for today was canceled because several fire chiefs were attending command school in Alameda County, Carl O. Heynen Jr., secretary, reported.

All-Adult Community Is Approved

An all-adult community on 1,200 acres of San Marin won final approval last night of the Novato city council.

The council adopted an amendment to the San Marin master plan which changes it from a single-family complex to an adult community.

The amendment eliminates two elementary school sites and a shopping area, but adds to the green belt on the slopes of Mount Burdell.

Richard L. Weis, vice president in charge of real estate for Sunset International Petroleum Corp., the developers, said the adult community would be developed by stages in condominium or small-lot developments.

He told the council that restrictions on having adults only could be written into sales contracts, with the city being a partner to the restrictions to see to their enforcement.

The details of how this could be done would be presented when the company comes in with a plan for the first unit, he said.

Four Navy Fliers Killed By Crash

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — All four men aboard a U.S. Navy patrol plane were killed when it crashed into the sea Monday just after taking off from Kindley Air Force Base.

The four-engine plane, a T3A Orion, burst into flames and narrowly missed some oil tanks before it plunged into 50 feet of water.

The names of the dead were withheld until next of kin were notified.

U.S. Pledges Millions For Pakistani Relief

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)— The United States is going to provide more than $14 million in aid for cyclone victims in East Pakistan, a government spokesman told the National Assembly today.

A cyclone and tidal wave hit East Pakistan on May 12, killing more than 17,000 persons and causing property damage estimated at more than $200 million.

Woman Fined In Traffic Case

Barbara Jean McDonald, 35, of Petaluma, was fined $220 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on July 4. She was arrested by California Highway Patrol on Highway 101.

Paul Franklin Vaughn, 26, of 1735 Center Road, Novato, was fined $193 for the same offense. He was arrested by Novato police on Center Road last Thursday.

A $200 fine was imposed on Robert Eugene Dignan, 47, Oakland man charged with drunken driving on May 30. He was arrested by California Highway Patrol.

Ronald Dean McMillin, 28, of 1116 Third Street, Novato, was fined $276 and placed on a year's probation for drunken driving July 3 on Lincoln Avenue. He was arrested by San Rafael police.

Before the 1906 earthquake and fire, Mill Valley's population was only 900 people, but by 1910, it had jumped to 2,891.

Novato Moves Ahead On Civic Center Plan

Novato is moving ahead with plans for its own civic center complex for North Marin.

The Novato city council last night called for a meeting of the governing boards of all municipal agencies which might be interested in a civic center, to be held at 8 p.m., Aug. 5, at the Novato Community House.

Robert Lagle, city planning director, reported he planned to hold a meeting with the other agencies "on a staff level within a week."

Included in a possible civic center would be the offices for City of Novato, the Novato Sanitary District, Novato Unified School District, and possibly the North Marin County Water District office, and the Novato branch of the Marin County Library.

Past discussion of a civic center has also included the possibility of a municipal court, department of Motor Vehicles license office, post office, state employment office, board of equalization, armory and other state and federal offices. However, these probably will not be included in the study, Lagle told the council.

More U.S. Doctors Sought In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agency for International Development and a voluntary agency, Project Viet Nam, have set out to more than double the number of American doctors serving in rural areas of South Viet Nam.

Announcing the program Tuesday, presidential press secretary Bill D. Moyers said doctors will volunteer for two months service with 20 serving at a time.

Youngsters Survive Oil Tank Explosion

TAFT (AP)—Two youngsters, 11 and 13, must be the luckiest children in Taft. The pair climbed to the top of a 500-barrel oil tank and dropped a lighted firecracker through a vent.

The tank split with a roar, spilling oil over the area. The youngsters climbed down unhurt.

A Hydraulic cart, AC-DC power supply, generator, aircraft engine parts, film, generator sets, miscellaneous lights and lamps and an aircraft generator starter will be sold by the defense surplus sales office on Aug 17 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Novato's Baget Gets Raise But Loses Out On Assistant

The Novato city council last night increased the salary of City Mgr. J. Julien Baget from $16,250 to $17,000 per year.

This was done in an open meeting after the council had been in a closed meeting for more than 45 minutes.

When the council went into closed meeting, it was announced that it was to consider applications to fill a vacancy on the parks and recreation advisory commission.

Baget's salary is usually reviewed at budget time each year, but this was not done during budget discussions which just ended. Baget had asked for an assistant, but this was eliminated from the budget by the council.

Associates Listed By GOP Central Committeemen

Twelve new associate members were named to the Marin Republican Central Committee last night.

Mrs. Donna Mani, San Rafael; Mrs. Maloa Trimble, Belvedere; Mrs. Marjorie Chaille, Mill Valley; Rogers Broomhead, Ross; Harry Diner, Corte Madera; William Exline, San Rafael.

Richard Herndon, Kentfield; Mrs. Robert Huber, Mill Valley; Mrs. Edwin Thomas Jr., Mrs. Peter Caletti, James Crumpacker, and Mrs. Paul McCart, all of San Rafael.

Two members of the central committee resigned last night because they are moving out of the districts which they represented. They are Calvin Horn of Novato, who is moving out of county, and William Anderson, who formerly lived in Ross Valley but moved to San Rafael.

Tamper With Car

San Rafael police last night cited two 14-year-old San Rafael boys for tampering and theft from an automobile after they were caught by Thomas M. Remayne of 75 Jewell Street, tampering with his car parked at 632 Irwin Street. Remayne said the boys stole a chrome gear shift knob.

DOUGLAS J. FLAUTT

Hub Administrator's Residence Challenged

The San Anselmo City Council will consider Aug. 10 legalizing the absentee residence of the city administrator, which has been going on for five years.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt's residence in San Rafael, in violation of a San Anselmo city ordinance, was brought forcibly to the council's attention last night by Hugh L. Erwin of 238 Saunders Avenue, after the council denied his plea for city help in repairing damage done to his property by a Corte Madera Creek tributary.

"I have the permission of the city council," Flautt declared when asked by Erwin why he lives outside the city limits.

Erwin also said he had heard a rumor that Flautt used city trucks to move his furnishings to Marin County.

"I've been in city government 15 years," Flautt retorted. "I know that officials are continuously accused of doing things they don't do. It's a hazard of accepting public office.

"I'm not going to defend myself against petty gossip and rumors."

"I don't think you're on trial here tonight," Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro told the city administrator.

Councilman Arthur W. Smith pointed out that the ordinance creating the position of city manager provided the manager must establish his residence in San Anselmo within 90 days of being hired.

Flautt said an amendment to the ordinance to allow him to live outside the city had been drawn up but never brought before the council.

Mayor Capurro directed it be brought before council at the Aug. 10 meeting.

Cedric Clute, the third councilman present, made no comment. Councilmen William Franchini and John M. Reichmuth were absent.

Flautt became city administrator of San Anselmo on Dec. 21, 1959, after a city manager ordinance had been scrapped and a city administrator ordinance substituted for it. Principal difference between the two was that the administrator ordinance did not include power to hire and fire without council approval.

Flautt lived in an apartment in San Anselmo for about six months. He was unable to find a house there, he said, and got council permission to live in Fairfax, where he had arranged to lease a house. Then the Fairfax lease fell through and Flautt bought a house at 95 Golden Hinde Boulevard in the Terra Linda annexation to San Rafael, where he has lived ever since.

The council denied Erwin's plea that it pay part of the cost of a retaining wall to keep the creek from undermining his home. An old retaining wall collapsed last winter.

The city cannot spend public funds on private property, councilmen told Erwin.

It was then he raised the challenge to Flautt's non-resident status.

Rabies Tests Can't Be Done

No rabies test could be run on a raccoon shot three times in the head by a San Rafael policeman Monday, a Marin County Health Department official reported today.

No brain tissue had been left in the skull of the animal after Thomas W. King of 23 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, noticed the animal acting strangely in his back yard.

"Brain tissue is the only kind we can use to test for rabies," explained the health official.

Lawn seed and fertilizer are now being packaged in their own spreaders. The seed or fertilizer comes in bags with dispensing holes at the top.

This Entertainment Lasts And Lasts . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight plays plus a couple of interpretive dance numbers are scheduled for a marathon show at the 41st St. Theater, a basement auditorium just off Broadway.

The avant garde program opens Aug. 2 and is to run daily from 5:30 p.m. to midnight, with a half-hour dinner break and one 10-minute intermission.

Army Course Done

ANNIVERSARY

Six years ago this month we opened the doors of Campbell Bishop Chevrolet in Mill Valley. We decided at that time to make Campbell Bishop Chevrolet a warm and friendly place to do business. By dedicating ourselves to a strong policy of:

1. Being fair and honest in our dealings.
2. Being very competitive in price.
3. Maintaining a modern efficient service and parts facility.
4. Always keeping a large inventory of new and used cars for immediate delivery.
5. Having a well trained staff to carry out these policies.

In order to carry out our promises, we have in these six years progressed from the smallest Chevrolet Dealer in Marin County to the largest – employing 65 people. We have constructed one of the largest most modern facilities for sale and service of new Chevrolets, centrally located, in Corte Madera, to serve all of Marin County.

From ourselves and our many capable employees, this is really a "birthday card" in reverse – from all of us at Campbell Bishop Chevrolet to all of you saying "Thanks for helping make these six years a great success!"

"Our promise to you is to continue to be A GOOD PLACE TO DO BUSINESS."

Mill Valleyans View First 'Cluster' Plan

Mill Valley planning commissioners last night heard a proposal for the city's first "cluster type" development.

Applicant Lamont M. Cochran Jr. proposes to build 22 single-family homes on an 11-acre site bounded by Edgewood and Cypress avenues, density to be one-half acre per dwelling unit.

Under the plan, a five-acre parcel would be kept as a permanent open green belt, with a home owners association to be responsible for maintenance and the city to have an interest also.

The plan was referred to the city's architectural advisory committee and commissioners agreed to visit the area.

Commissioners reviewed to plans of Alcan-Marin Ltd. for a commercial - recreational development on property near Enchant Knolls point, and agreed the proposals are within the commercial-recreational land use of the East Mill Valley Plan.

Proposals are to use the property for a motel complex with a restaurant. An alternate plan shows a motel and restaurant plus specialty shops in vicinity of the 300 apartment units.

The commission agreed to recommend amendments to the planned unit development section of the ordinance Aug. 24 to make the commercial-recreational ordinance work, said Planning Director Harvey E. Brangdon.

The commissioners discussed the city-owned 18 acres west of the yacht harbor in relation to the East Mill Valley General Plan and agreed the area should be "water area."

Robert C. Mountjoy was re-elected chairman to serve until his term expires in December, and Rodric L. Robinson was re-elected vice chairman.

Enchanted Knolls Plans Revealed For Development

Plans for development of 330 residential units in Enchanted Knolls were told today by Charles Warren Callister, Tiburon architect.

To be built on 80 acres and called Enchanted Park, the proposed development includes 60 single-family homes to be built on the west slope, 80 town houses on the east side and 190 studio bachelor apartments plus a commercial area near Goodman Building Supply Co.

The plans have been presented to the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Assn. who expects to consider them again on Aug. 5.

Owners of the property are Eugene Harder of Piedmont, Sherill Broudy of Santa Barbara and Werner Odenthal of San Leandro.

Confab To Set Ground Rules At Youth Center

Bert Balmer, Mill Valley city manager, said today that a meeting will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow in his office with Police Chief Dan Terzich, Jack Benjamin and Les Mize, Co-directors of the youth council, to set up ground rules for use of the city's community and youth center.

The meeting had been set, tentatively, last Saturday after Balmer and police halted an out-of-doors dance at the not-yet-completed center on project 17. Balmer at that time told youths that the dance was cancelled because the building was still under construction.

It was not know today whether youth council will hold a dance Friday. Benjamin has said a dance will be held if permission is granted for the center, and Balmer has said the dance can be held if the building has decks and ramps, furniture and parking.

Auto Stereo, Tapes Stolen In One Of Several Thefts

Loss of a $160 automobile stereophonic set and $100 worth of recording tape in a burglery of the car of John McRae Dyson, 7 Hillside Avenue, Kentfield, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Dyson told deputies a window wing of the car, parked at his home yesterday, was forced.

Officers said a trailer home of Laura and Jose Correra, parked last April 15 on Mesa Road near Bolinas, was entered during the past few days and clothing, blankets, draperies, two watches, jewelry, a stove, and a coffee table were taken.

Entry was by forcing a front door, according to the report. Officers said the couple parked the trailer to move to a ranch for temporary work.

Kenneth A. Helms, Seattle, Wash., told deputies his locked car was forced open while parked on Mann Drive, Kentfield, last Sunday. Two men's suits were stolen.

The home of John Melvin Salmela, 542 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, was entered during the past few days by forcing a crank - type window. Deputies said about $10 in small change was taken. Salmela said intruders left candle drippings on the kitchen floor.

Lawn Is Torn Up

Grete R. Perlmutter of 121 Rafael Drive, San Rafael, told police yesterday that vandals dug up sections of her front lawn the night before.

He and Ronald R. Cocking, 25, of the same address, were taking two tires from the car of Timothy L. Sallady, 1048 Los Gamos Drive, San Rafael, on May 26.

Cocking pleaded guilty May 28 to petty theft and was given a 30-day suspended jail term and placed on one year probation.

Sausalito Homes Hit By Burglars

Burglars pried open doors to two Sausalito homes during the past two days, stealing $1,465 worth of television sets, clothing and jewelry, police reported today.

Janet R. Cox of 137 Prospect Avenue reported at 6:10 p.m. yesterday that between 6:45 a.m. and 5:50 p.m. someone entered her home and took two 19-inch television sets, three clock radios, a telescope, miscellaneous jewelry and a suede coat with a mink collar. Total value, she said, was $965. Entry was through a door from the garage.

Elaine D. Krajewski of 110 Third Street reported at 5:30 p.m. yesterday that someone had entered her apartment by prying open the front door and removed a 19-inch portable television set, a woman's wrist watch and a cashmere sweater with a mink collar. She estimated total value at $500. The burglary occurred between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 5:30 p.m. yesterday, she said.

Other Mars Photos Reveal Nothing Living

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times reported today that Mariner 4's best pictures of Mars show the red planet apparently is a dead orb similar to the moon.

The newspaper said it learned that the pictures—not yet made public—show craters gouged in the surface of the planet but no evidence of canals.

Some astronomers have theorized that canals exist on Mars.

Marvin Miles, Times aerospace editor, wrote:

"While no direct evidence of life could be detected, this did not rule out the possibility that plants such as lichens and algae might exist.

"Mariner's closest pictures were taken at a distance of about 7,000 miles. At that range it is possible life forms might not be detectable in the series of yet undisclosed photos. . .

"These later pictures, taken under better lighting conditions that cast shadows on the Martian surface, are reported far better than the first photos."

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena had announced Tuesday that at least three more of the Mars photographs recorded in the historic July 14 fly-by would be made public before the week ends.

A laboratory spokesman said the time and place of the release would be disclosed later by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Times, however, said NASA officials hoped to show the later pictures to President Johnson—probably Thursday — then release all the photos with scientific interpretation at a special Washington news conference.

Mariner 4 began last Saturday to replay the tape on which all 21 pictures of Mars were recorded. The rerun is expected to be completed early next week.

The first "mutual aid and nonaggression pact" made between the Pilgrims and Indians at Plymouth, Mass., in 1621 was kept for 45 years.

Lost Heifer Lands In Bovine Heaven

LYONS, Kan. (AP)—Two weeks after Ralph Greathouse lost a heifer, children found the cow in what must be a bovine heaven.

The cow was trapped in a stack of baled hay surrounded by puddles of rain water, and healthy except for lack of excercise.

Boys Find $12,000 In Real Money-Jar

CANTON, Ill. (AP) — Parents of three young boys who found a jar of money last week have filed a court declaration that the jar contained $12,590.

The FBI is checking the bills' serial numbers to see if any of the money was stolen. Attorneys say if the money isn't claimed within one year, the money will rest with the finders.

ROBERT H. FINCH
Lieutenant governor race

GOP Hopeful Working For No. 2 Spot

By WAT TAKESHITA

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's popularity at this time "is about like that of organized boxing," a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor told members of the Marin Republican Central Committee last night.

Robert H. Finch, 39, Los Angeles attorney, said he has a "visceral feeling" that Governor Brown may not even seek re-election. In any case, the rift among Democratic factions gives Republicans "a wonder opportunity" to take over leadership in next year's elections, said Finch.

He spoke to about 60 Republicans in the county courthouse in San Rafael. Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who worked with Finch on Sen. George Murphy's campaign last year introduced the speaker.

Finch was state chairman for Murphy. He was formerly administrative assistant to Vice President Richard M. Nixon. In the 1950s, he was Republican county chairman in Los Angeles County.

Finch declared he has no preference for any GOP gubernatorial candidate. "Obviously, I will run with whomever the party nominates."

Describing himself as a Republican with a "Nixon-Murphy" coloration, Finch said he feels he can work hand in hand with both conservatives and moderates. He pointed out that among his key backers in Southern California are seven Goldwater delegates and nine Rockefeller delegates.

Here are other comments made by Finch:

Sam Yorty of Los Angeles will be a candidate for Democratic nomination for governor. He may beat Governor Brown and may be a tougher foe for Republicans than Brown would be.

The apparent cooperation between Yorty and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh is a "marriage of convenience" to offset the Governor Brown-California Democratic Council axis.

The Republican Party must offer constructive alternatives to meet the problems of growth. He prefers more participation by voluntary and private groups rather than greater government control and more taxes.

Nixon will not play any key role in next year's California elections.

CONFLICT FOUND IN COAST PLANS

West Marin Master, Recreation Guides Differ On Bolinas Lagoon's Future Use

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Plan and the West Marin Master Plan, both being considered by county planners, are in direct conflict with each other.

This was discovered last night when the parks and recreation commission and three members of the planning commission met to iron out details on the parks and recreation plan.

Area in conflict is the upper Tomales Bay tidelands, comprised by extensive tidal flats at the mouth of Lagunitas Creek and marshy lowlands bordering the creek between Point Reyes Station and Inverness Park.

The recreation commission, in its plan recommended to the planning commission, asks that the area remain undeveloped and a wild life refuge be located there.

Such a refuge, the plan says, would protect "great numbers of upland birds and waterfowl and would assist in retaining the role of Lagunitas Creek as the one good spawning ground for salmon and steelhead left in Marin County.

The plan also points out that the National Park Service has requested a buffer zone along this approach to Point Reyes National Seashore. The plan would have the "desirable effect of perserving scenic values" on this approach, it says.

The West Marin Master Plan as it is being considered by the county planners would treat these tidelands as a recreation rather than conservation area.

Planning Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said the plan calls for extensive dredging and creation of "a highly developed recreation area."

This would include marina housing on an artificial lagoon and commercial zones for recreation-oriented enterprises. Dougherty pointed out that dredging the area would also avoid seasonal floods, putting the excess water to practical use.

Senior planner Walter S. Horchler defended the recreation plan, which he prepared, saying the State Department of Fish and Game told him the wildlife, salmon and steelhead would soon be non-existant in the area if commercial development were allowed.

"Oh, a few may remain," he said, "if they can adapt and survive the water pollution and other hazards.

"If the people of Marin County are going to take a stand on conservation, they should do it here and not in an area where the gong has already rung and the wildlife is gone."

Horchler said the county assessor's office estimated the county could buy the 900 tideland acres for $450.000, or $500 an acre.

Indicating opposition to the recreation plan, planning commissioner Dougherty said:

"I am inclined to the cliche which says you have to give a little to get a little. I don't think you can expect to retain every piece of land that has a potential for conservation."

The planning and recreation commissioners agreed to leave the conflicting section in the plan and add a paragraph which reads:

"The values expressed here may be in conflict with certain aspects of the West Marin Master Plan and this will have to be resolved."

"It's sort of a cheaty way out," said commissioner Margaret Azevedo, "but I don't think this is something we can settle tonight."

The commissioners made other changes in the recreation plan, adding a paragraph here and withdrawing a sentence there. The revised plan will be submitted to the planning commission at its next meeting.

The original plan was sent to the commission Feb. 24, but was rejected. The planning commission appointed a three-member committee, consisting of commissioners William F. Upton, Azevedo and Dougherty, to meet with recreation commissioners and write a revised plan.

Five Youths Freed From Wet Beach

Five youths planned to camp out on Bolinas Beach last night but, after the tide came in, they wound up camping at home.

Bolinas volunteer firemen were called at 9:30 p.m. after Little Mesa residents heard calls for help from the teen-age boys on the beach.

Fire Chief Joe Silva and three other firemen lowered a fire ladder from the highlands onto the beach near Brighton Avenue, and the boys hauled themselves and their bedding to dryer land. "We were caught by a high tide and couldn't escape," the boys told Silva, who made the rescue with firemen Elia Rempelos, H. R. Crotts and Bruce Guyette.

Automation Replaces Faithful Hunting Dog

PEMBROKE, Ontario (UPI) —Two resourceful hunters here have found that man's best friend is often his tape recorder. Replacing the traditional pack of hunting dogs with prerecorded barks and yelps, Gabe Carpentier and Robert MacDonald take to the woods carrying a lightweight portable tape recorder.

Military Rites Set For Burdick

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Author Eugene Burdick, whose novel Fail Safe questioned military methods, will receive a veteran's funeral at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

The writer's graveside service will include a military squad firing three volleys from seven rifles. A bugler will play taps.

Burdick served on Navy destroyers in World War II and won the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for rescuing victims of a torpedoed transport in the Pacific.

He died of a heart attack Monday in San Diego.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Professional Treasure Hunter Opens New San Rafael Office

Professional treasure hunter Arthur F. Deiters of San Rafael has opened a new office at 918 B Street. This serves as his California headquarters for Hidden Treasure, Inc., one of seven similarly named corporations of which he is president in several states. Principal office for this interesting business is in Carson City, Nev.

When not running around the country in one of his specially outfitted vehicles to uncover buried gold, lost mines, bandits' caches, sunken treasure or on some other romantic quest, Deiters spends some of his time at 1321 Fourth Street, where he and his wife Elaine still maintain Marin Upholstery. You might be able to contact him there if not at B Street. Otherwise you'll just have to bide your time until his return.

Besides investigating hidden treasure reports (at the present time he has about 15 field operators tracking down loot in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona and is drilling for silver in Idaho), he is Northern California distributor for Rayscope metal detectors—devices for doing your own searching.

DEITERS HAS BEEN a treasure hunter for some 30 years, but has been incorporated for only the last five years. At one time he used the pseudonym Frederic W. Farbwarde in the profession, but now goes under his own name.

It's a business, he says, that keeps him perpetually alert—not only against giving away secrets and picking up leads, but against hoaxes and litigation. His library on authentic treasures and rumors runs into thousands of volumes and map books and is a treasure in itself.

Don't come to him with a tale that has already made the rounds and expect a substantial commission as a reward. He can show you the exact book and page that carried the original story. About 90 per cent of his investigations are made in the office and the rest in the field — which means that only about one out of every 10 yarns has enough substance to justify the expense of a complete rundown. "And I'm lucky if two out of five of those pay off," he declares.

YET DURING the time he has pursued the legendary pot at the foot of the rainbow he has made over 800 authentic researches. Deiters works in cooperation with archeologists, geophysicists, geologists and other men of science and often employs them in his work.

He hopes one day to open a museum in Marin, displaying some of his finds.

Believe it or not, he reports, in spite of his extensive operations he is a comparatively "small potato in the field." There are at least 500 similar operations in the United States, some of them with hundreds of men continually on their payrolls.

YOU CAN EXPECT quite a variety of imported men's wear at Stephen Roberts' downtown haberdashery store this fall. Instead of making his usual winter trip into Europe for skiing, Roberts took off early on another course.

Last heard from, he was buying neckties in Nepal, after having looked over the wares of Japan, Hong Kong and Bangkok. Still on his itinerary are India, Iran, Israel and Greece. What else he will pick up along the way for his store shelves, I'm not exactly sure. It will be interesting to find out when he returns home the latter part of August.

JAMES E. HICKS of Tiburon has joined Edelstein, Campbell and Co., San Francisco investment securities firm, as a registered representative. Firm member Joseph F. Edelstein is a resident of Sleepy Hollow.

SFO HELICOPTERS AIRLINES, INC., will move its main office at the San Francisco International Airport in with American Airlines. The latter now announces that it will pay half the fare from SFO helicopters to the airport of anyone traveling American. This would cut the prevailing $5.50 now charged from the Marin heliport, interlining with American, to one half of the full $9.50—or $4.75.

Since the repeal of prohibition, the Federal excise taxes on distilled spirits have been increased 854 per cent.

Stock Market Closes Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today with final dealings fairly active.

The market rose in advance of President Johnson's statement on Viet Nam, cut its gains substantially on what some brokers called the mild nature of the speech, then advanced again to the highest level of the day.

Gains of 2 points or so were made by International Nickel and American Smelting.

General Motors held steady.

Gains of aerospace issues were moderate. Gold-mining stocks were off.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.9 million shares compared with 4.27 million yesterday.

Here was the picture toward the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or more among key stocks outnumbered losers.

The list was rallying just before the Johnson statement on a Washington report that the President would ask Congress for a substantial emergency appropriation but this did not appear in his statement, in which he asked that monthly draft calls be more than doubled.

Gains melted in many sections of the market but steels remained ahead. Lukens gained more than 2, U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin nearly 2 each. Up around a point or so were Bethlehem, Republic, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Armco, Crucible, National and Youngstown Sheet.

As copper and other commodity future prices fell after the Johnson talk, their representative stocks trimmed gains although American Smelting stayed up 2 and Kennecott 1. Gold-mining issues fell. Losses of around a point were taken by Homestake, Campbell Red Lake, Dome Mines and American South African Investment.

Aerospace issues such as United Aircraft, Boeing, General Dynamics and Douglas Aircraft held fractional advances, trimming their best prices. Electronics showed similar gains.

General Motors erased a gain. Little change was shown by Jersey Standard and American Telephone. Du Pont was down a fraion. Liggett & Myers dropped a point.

IBM was up 3, Xerox, Island Creek Coal and U.S. Smelting about 2 each.

Bank Plans Costly New Skyscraper

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bank of American has announced plans for a 52-story world headquarters building with a projected cost of $85 million including land.

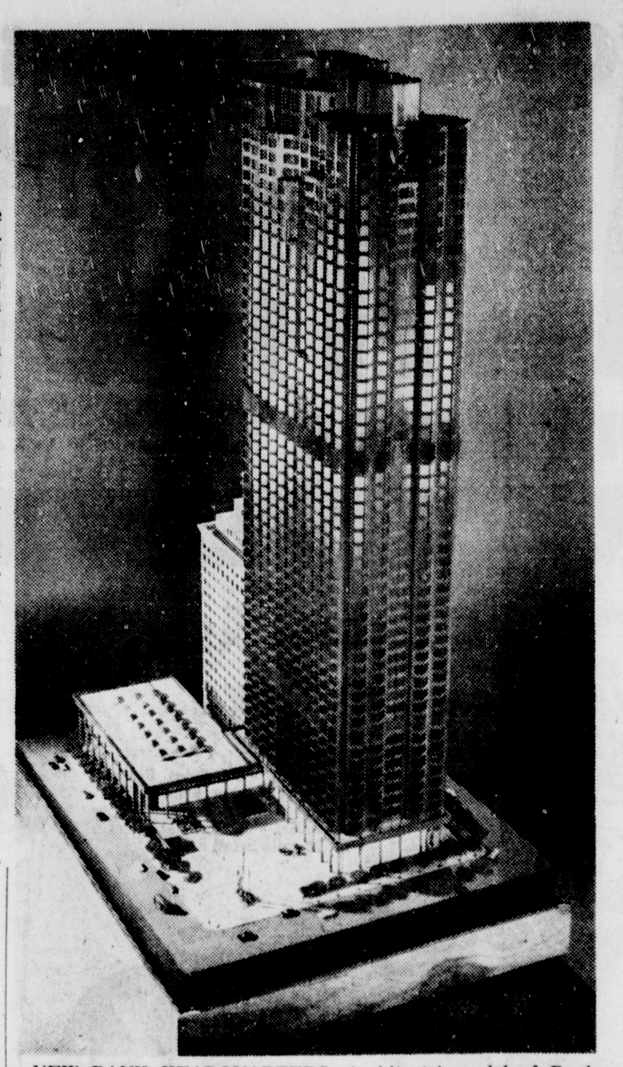

The structure's 750-foot high tower will stand higher than the towers of the Golden Gate Bridge which reach 746 feet above San Francisco Bay.

President R. A. Peterson said construction is expected to start in late 1966 with probably completion in 1969.

The building will be located in the block bounded by California, Montgomery, Pine, and Kearny streets.

Peterson said an unusual design will incorporate bronze tinted bay windows, an irregular pattern for the upper floors, and a broad, landscaped public plaza.

The building will contain about 1.9 million square feet of office space and parking for about 500 cars.

Shipper Buys diGiorgia Acreage

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A San Francisco shipping firm owner has purchased 300 acres of DiGiorgio Corp. land near Fresno for $548,500 from the Federal Bureau of Reclamation.

The bureau, which is handling the sale of some 4,000 acres for DiGiorgio, said Fred F. Noonan paid $54,850 down and must pay the remaining 90 per cent in 60 days.

Noonan, president of Fred F. Noonan Co., Inc., of San Francisco, paid $294,500 for 160 acres and $254,000 more for an adjoining 140 acres. The land, mostly now in table grapes, is within the Delano-Earlimart Irrigation District.

A bureau spokesman said Noonan plans to keep the land producing grapes for the present.

The bureau began selling off DiGiorgio land last year and so far has sold 4 of 31 parcels. The remaining 27 parcels carry price tags totaling $6.5 million.

State Approves Banks Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Merger of the Bank of California and the First National Bank of Long Beach was approved yesterday by Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon.

Bank of California, with headquarters in San Francisco operates 49 branches and has deposits of $923 million.

The Long Beach bank had deposits of $12.4 million.

San Rafael Redwood Bank Feud Is Ended

The feud between management of San Rafael's Redwood National Bank and three directors who resigned last December came to an end yesterday as the former directors dropped a court fight and sold their stock to a group headed by bank president Byron W. Leydecker.

Stockholders learned of the settlement in a letter mailed out by Leydecker yesterday. In it he said "all purported voting trustees"—who previously had sole voting rights—had resigned, and the annual stockholders' meeting had been reset for 4:30 p.m. Monday at the bank.

(A previous attempt to hold the annual meeting disintegrated into chaos April 22 when Leydecker insisted it was stymied by the court actions. Five disgruntled trustees then held a "rump session" and voted to restore the seven-man board of directors to 11.)

Nucleus of the dissented group had been three directors who stepped down at the request of Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon after the bank figured in U. S. Senate hearings on the activities of former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker.

Baker's signature was found on a $5,000 check paid to Washington lobbyist Wayne L. Bromley by Roderick P. Martinelli, then the bank's attorney, for helping obtain the bank charter. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., last month said a "phantom report" by Senate investigators concluded Baker probably split the fee with Bromley.

The former directors later filed suit to block Leydecker's plan to reduce the number of directors permanently to seven. An injunction was issued May 3 in Marin Superior Court and Leydecker filed an appeal. The appeal was still pending before the First District Court of Appeals when the ousted group dropped its suit yesterday.

As recently as July 9, Leydecker said his effort to buy out the other group had been futile. Yesterday's letter, however, said stock "has been purchased by a group of existing shareholders of the bank—essentially the bank's management group.

"The bank is advised," he added, "that it is the intention of the purchasers to make available a portion of this newly acquired stock to existing stockholders."

U.S. Steel Profit Best Since '59

NEW YORK (AP)—United States Steel Corp. said yesterday its second-quarter net profits rose to $81,042,663, or $1.38 a share from $60,696,096, or $1 a share in the same period last year.

The earnings brought the company's net income for the first six months of $154,815,512, or $2.63 a share. In the 1964 first half the nation's No. 1 steel maker earned $112,242,098, or $1.84 a common share.

The company's second-quarter earnings were its best since 1959 when April-June earnings totaled a record $148,363,193, or $2.64 a share.

Automobile Buyers Get Cost Break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Buyers of automobile and air conditioners paid less for those products from mid-May to mid-June because of refunds resulting from the recent excise tax cuts, according to President Johnson's Council of Economic

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the council, told the Chief Executive of the first month's impact of the tax cut measure in a report submitted to the White House during the weekend. The bill was signed into law on June 21.

Ackley said that the tax cuts for cars and air conditioners, retroactive to last May 15, involved refunds to buyers. This meant that new car prices were 2.8 per cent lower than in May, and the average retail price of air conditioners fell by 5.6 per cent from May to June.

Borax Firm Has Higher Earnings

Net income of $6,238,628, amounting to $1.48 per common share has been reported by United States Borax and Chemical Corp. for the nine months ended June 30.

This compares with $1.44 per common share for the same period a year ago, after deduction of dividends on preferred stock redeemed Sept. 1, 1964.

Sales for the nine months period were $74,295,440, against $67,333,258 a year ago. Sales for the June quarter increased to $26,608,676 from $24,497,328 in the same period last year.

'Rules' Laid Down For U. S. Track Stars In Russia

KIEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — U.S. track and field athletes, converging on Russia for their annual dual meet, are told not to wear loud ties and not talk too much.

They mustn't brag about how much an ordinary worker back in the States pockets in take-home pay.

They must be very careful how they discuss the American racial situation. They must be truthful, but must also give the proper picture.

It's all in a pocket-size handbook distributed among the sportsmen before they disembarked from their plane for the annual battle against the runners, jumpers and throwers of the Soviet Union.

The big meet is scheduled Saturday and Sunday in this ancient city of more than a million inhabitants serving as the capital of the Ukraine region.

U.S. Amateur Athletic Union officials have made it plain that they want no extra strain on East-West relations, already made taut by the war in Viet Nam.

In the guidebook, which carries the okay of the Governmental Affairs Institute, the athletes are advised that shorts and slacks for women should be taboo and there should be no bright patterns in men's sports shirts and ties.

"It is 'nekulturni,'" the book says. That means uncultured — a slob.

There is no admonition about engaging Soviet citizens in conversation but the Yanks must be careful what they say.

"You may know a skilled worker who makes $600 a month," the pamphlet says. "But these wages are above the $400 and $500 average."

The Russian, it's pointed out, makes about $83.33 monthly, and almost half of it is spent for food.

The Russian hasn't forgotten the days of Stalin, the book goes further, so the visitors "must not be dismayed by indications of considerable initial reserve or marked formality."

It suggests that questioners be painted a picture of the clash in constitutional and states rights.

The 49 men and 21 women who arrived here yesterday for the Russian meet received a polite but cool reception from the Russians, but there were no demonstrations.

The Yanks spent 2¼ hours at the Moscow Airport clearing red tape. They were bused to the city for dinner and bused to another airport for the trip to Kiev.

The Russians hardly noticed. Or, if they did, they didn't want anybody to know.

BROCK IS CAUGHT—St. Louis Cardinal Lou Brock (20) finds himself in a rough position in the third inning of last night's game at Candlestick Park. He's in a rundown between first and second, as shortstop Dick Schofield (left) and Hal Lanier close in. It was the first of two times Warren Spahn picked Brock off first, both plays resulting in rundowns. (AP Wirephoto)

2 No-Hitter Top Li'l League Play

Two no-hitters were the feature attractions of yesterday's opening round action in the District 3 Little League All-Star Tournament.

Jeff Nedd tossed a no-hitter against Tiburon to lead his Twin Cities All-Star team to a 4-0 triumph, and Sausalito's Lawrence Dora threw a no-hitter as the Sausalito Stars wallopped Strawberry 12-0.

In other first round games yesterday, Hamilton-Loma Verde took the measure of Marinwook, 10-0, Gallinas Valley thrashed San Geronimo Valley 11-1, and Novato topped San Rafael American 9-2.

For today's quarterfinal action, Hamilton-Loma Verda takes on San Rafael National, a team that drew a bye yesterday, at Hamilton AFB diamond, and Novato hosts Gallinas Valley, both of those being Area 1 games.

In Area 2 games today, Twin Cities takes on Sausalito at Larkspur and Mill Valley American battles Mill Valley National in a cross town rivalry in that southern Marin city. Both Mill Valley teams drew byes yesterday.

Semi-final games for the winners will be played Friday with the championship game the following day in Novato.

In Nedd's no-hitter at Larkspur, his battery mate Frank Pomilia provided three of the team's four runs with a pair of homers. The hard-hitting catcher smashed a solo homer over the centerfield fence in the third inning and then blasted one over the left-centerfield fence with a mate aboard in the fourth frame.

Providing the punch in the Sausalito-Strawberry game was Landy Scott who knocked in five of Sausalito's runs with a three-run homer in the first inning. He added a ground rule double later to knock in a couple more runs. Dora was magnificent on the mound, striking out 12 en route to his no-no win. He walked only one man and another got on base via an error. Neither got past first.

Ron Riding got the win in the Hamilton-Loma Verde victory, striking out five and walking two, in addition to the four hits he gave up. Mat Blote with two singles and Dave Perron with a double paced the H-LV attack. The winners displayed great defensive ball, committing no errors.

Kevin Ward pitched a three-hitter for Gallinas Valley and collected three hits himself, a double and two singles, to be the star of that show. Bill Berry with two singles was another bright spot in the Gallinas attack.

Randy Foster earned the win for Novato, striking out 11 batters in the process. Clint Hubbard led the Novato stars with two singles. Big man for San Rafael American was Paul Dillman who smashed a two-run homer to account for all his team's runs.

After The Vacation Let's Start Slowly

Let's see now, where were we . . .?

Oh, yes. Allow me to re-introduce myself. I'm the resident hack in this space — three bloody days a week—and I've been on vacation and it went by like one of those World War I newsreels. At the speed of light.

It's been my custom, like Ring Lardner's, to get back into these things gradually, to turn the first one over to a guest columnist—No. 3 son, Eric P. To those of you who have been kind enough to say he writes better than the Old Man, all I can say is, maybe. But you should see his ears after a day in the yard. Or after a shower, for that matter. Also, how are you on drum solos at 5 o'clock in the morning?

ANYWAY, A little traveling music, Professor, while I turn the console over to E. P. Ready when you are, E.P.

"Well, we went to Seattle, Daddy decided, and he came home an sed, Boy, will it be fun in our new Chrysler and wut do you think we shud take along an Mom sez, Opium. An Dad sez, No, I am not goin to let anythin rile me this trip, not even trucks, and Mom sez, Yeh, an Queen Elizabeth is goin to look chic.

"Well, we stopped at Morro Bay and Dad sez, 'I an Tony will play golf as I wish to show the kid a thing or two I picked up from Palmer' but when they come back that nite Dad don say much and Mom axes why and Tony who is my second big brother sez 'Oh, Dad had a little trouble with his woods,' and Mom sez, 'His driver?' and Tony sez, 'no, the trees' and like to bus laffin an Dad hollers and sez 'Wut can you expeck as this whole dam golf corse is tilted toward the ocean and is better suited to Tony's type of game which is not got enny finny ess like mine has' and Mom sez 'Cheer up, maybe the British Open will be more suited to your type of game' and Tony sez 'I beat him by 13 shots' and Dad sez 'If they's anythin I can't stand it's a 17-year-old wise guy' and Mom sez 'By the way, which was the Palmer who showed you? Betsy or Arnold?'

"AN THE NEX day Dad was grouchy till he got on the road an he sez 'We will go up thru the red woods as these trees is nature's masterpieces. They make the Umpire State Building look like a pup tent' an Mom sez 'Oh, no, you don't, as the last time we went thru the red woods all you did was cuss those loggin trucks and yell at everybody on those narrow roads and you was scart to deth at nite and I ain goin thru no red woods' and we took a vote an it was 4-to-1, No, and Dad wuz cross and sez 'Think wut a New York tennamint kid wud giv to go thru the red woods' and Mom sez 'Get him. Our own Johnny Appleseed.'

"So we din go thru the red woods, we went thru Sacramento and Dad sez, 'I wud stop and see Governor Brown but I am afraid he wud ast us to dinner and we hav to make time' an Governor Brown wud make us up som sanwiches' an then Dad begun hollerin at trucks and campers and Mom sez 'Well, we have gone around Sacramento three times already, maybe the governor shud give us a motorcycle escort. Wile you wuz takin golf lessons from Arnold Palmer why din you take drivin lessons from Jimmy Clark?' an Dad hollers 'Jimmy Clark is the world's greatest driver becuz he don't hav no dam wife givin him instructions an they don allow trucks at Indianapolis much less two of them passin each other uphill at 10 miles an hour.'

"AN WE GOT to Seattle an Ant Lil sez to Mom 'How wuz your trip up?' and Mom sez 'Well, it wuz better'n being drug by two wild horses' and Dad sez 'It wuz nice oney we are goin home thru the red woods' and Mom sez 'Oh, my God.'

"Well, we went over to Victoria on this big steamboat and Dad looks at the prices and sez to the purser 'Say, is the captains' name on this tub Kidd? An why don you fly the skull and crossbones?' An we playd hid-an-seek on deck an little John won—in fack it took the crew to find him in one of thos pipes. An we got to Victoria which is a very pretty city and a man in skirts wuz playin a vacuum cleaner on the gangplank and John sez 'Wut is that he's playin?' and Dad sez 'Well, judgin by the sound I wud say it wuz two mad cats he wuz squeezin but Scotch men think that is very fine music an that is all I hav to tell you about Scotch men as you know all

SPAHN LOOKS GREAT . . .

But Giants Lose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite what Bob Feller thinks, Warren Spahn believes he can still pitch in the majors at the age of 44.

Bob Purkey, a tender 36, agrees with Spahn. So does Lou Brock.

"I never doubted it," said Spahn last night after giving the St. Louis Cardinals only four hits in nine innings.

Unfortunately for the middle-aged southpaw, Purkey threw a five-hitter at the San Francisco Giants as the Cards won 3-0 and executed four double plays.

Feller, the Cleveland Indian fireballer who retired after a winless 1956 season, said the day before that Spahn should "quit now."

"What's Spahn out to prove?" Feller had asked. "What more does he expect out of the game?

"He's won more games (360) than any other left-hander in history," Feller said. "What more does he want?"

Spahn said after his ninth straight loss in a 4-13 season that "I want to win some ball games for this ball club."

Brock reached base his first two times up on a dropped third strike and an error. Spahn picked him off by 10 feet each time. Brock is the National League's second leading base stealer.

"I'm proud to be in the majors at an age where most players have retired," said Purkey. "I'll be proud to be around at the age of 40. And at 44, Warren should be real proud.

"I thought he pitched good enough to win. I would take that game and give up three runs for the rest of my career. Any time you hold a team in this league to three runs you deserve to win," declared Purkey.

"I'm only trying to make a living," said Spahn. "And I think it's up to baseball people to decide when I'm through and not to people no longer in baseball."

No more than one base runner got on at any time off Spahn, who walked only one in his second start as a Giant since coming as a free agent from the New York Mets the week before.

Bill White got the first Card run with a bases-empty homer in the second inning. Curt Flood stole second after singling in the fourth inning, moved to third on an outfield fly and scored on Phil Gagliano's long out to right field.

Flood scored the final St. Louis run in the ninth on two of the Giants' three errors. Third baseman Jim Hart overthrew first after picking up Flood's grounder. Catcher Tom Haller scooped up the ball and fired it so far past a vacant second base that Flood didn't even draw a throw at the plate.

"I think he'll win a few games for us," said Manager Herman Franks about the pitcher he pulled after 2 1-3 innings last Thursday.

"I felt like myself tonight," said Spahn. "I threw pitches where I wanted them."

Spahn had worked on his control after his first San Francisco start by throwing batting practice and on the sidelines.

"I'll take 361," answered Spahn. "That 361st is a tough son-of-a-gun."

Lester Vs. Moyer Bout On Tap Tonight In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Undefeated middleweight boxer Jimmy Lester returns to ring action tonight at 8:30 in a rematch against former junior middle weight champion Denny Moyer of Portland at Kezar Pavilion.

The Los Angeles fighter outpointed Moyer in a close match April 2. A week later Lester's father, who trained him, died and the heartbroken fighter declared he was retiring.

Lester subsequently changed his mind and a 10-round rematch with Moyer was set for July 9 but was postponed when the Portland veteran suffered a leg injury.

Undefeated in 16 bouts and winner of 12 by knockout, Lester says, "I wasn't at my best the first time against him. I'm in better shape and I'm going all out for a knockout."

His condition had to come in the gym. Lester hasn't fought since the Moyer bout. His foe had one fight, beating Ferd Hernandez, the Nevada champ, in Las Vegas. Hernandez later outpointed Sugar Ray Robinson.

Moyer also talks knockout, saying, "I think if I had gone to the attack earlier I would have won. I'm going to put the pressure on at the opening bell and try for a knockout. I had him going in the 10th round, but then it was too late."

NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

Braves Move Up N. L. Ladder

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Torre tilted Houston's $2 million exploding scoreboard with some two-bit fireworks and hit the jackpot with pyrotechnics the Astros couldn't buy at any price.

When Milwaukee's All-Star catcher slammed his 20th home run last night in the Astrodome, his teammates beat the mammoth scoreboard to the punch by tossing firecrackers and lighting sparklers.

The 400-foot long monster triggers electronic fireworks when the Astros hit home runs but ignores an enemy blast by flashing "tilt." The Braves retaliated with their own display from the dugout in honor of Torre, who has clubbed seven hits and driven in six runs in the last two games.

Milwaukee won the game 7-1 and edged within one game of second place Cincinnati, which succumbed to the flashing feet and torrid bat of Maury Wills who led Los Angeles to a 9-7 triumph.

Completing the National League action, St. Louis shut out San Francisco and Warren Spahn 3-0, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 3-1 in the first game of a doublheader then lost to the Pirates 3-2 in 10 innings and Chicago trimmed New York 6-3.

The Braves staged their celebration in the fourth inning when someone in their dugout threw two large firecrackers that exploded on the field after Torre's blast. Two other players lit sparklers inside the dugout.

Felipe Alou led off the Braves attack with a home run in the first inning for the second straight night and Tony Cloninger limited the Astros to only five hits to pickup his 13th triumph with relief help from Billy O'Dell in the seventh.

The power-hitting Braves collected four doubles and a triple by Cloninger in addition to the two homers. They have slugged 118 roundtrippers this season and are setting a pace that could eclipse the league record of 221.

Wills stole two more bases, raising his total to 71, cracked a double and single to run his hitting streak to 20 and scored the decisive run in the fifth on Jim Gilliam's single. Gilliam drove in four of the Dodger tallies with a homer, double and single. Wills is now 29 games ahead of his 1962 pace when he pilfered a record 104. Cincinnati's Joey Jay absorbed the loss and Ron Perranoski, who pitched the final two innings, was the winner for Los Angeles.

Donn Clendeon singeled home Willie Stargell in the 10th inning with the winning run for Pittsburgh in the nightcap after the Phillies had scored three runs after two were out in the ninth inning of the opener to defeat Pittsburgh. Bob Friend had a 1-0 six-hitter in the first game with none on and two out in the ninth when Bobby Wine, Alex Johnson and Tony Gonzalez singled. Al McBean relieved Friend and was greeted with a two-run double by Cookie Rojas.

Ernie Banks drove in four runs with a bases-loaded double and a home run to raise his league-leading RBI total to 76. Bob Buhl won his 11th game for the Cubs. Although he needed relief from Billy Hoeft and Ted Abernathy in the ninth. Jack Fisher (7-12) was the loser.

JOHNSON LAUDED BY 49ER COACH

Christiansen said the defensive unit was doing a tremendous job during the drills.

Raider Injured List Growing

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Regular quarterback Cotton Davidson has joined the growing number of Oakland Raider infirmary cases.

The 34-year-old veteran came up with a sore arm yesterday while pitching passes for the American Football League club now working out at the Santa Rosa training camp. He'll be out several days at least.

Waiting for him at the clinic were defensive end Ben Davidson with a sprained ankle, rookie linebacker Mickey Cox with a knee that hasn't responded to an operation two months ago, linebacker Bill Budness with a bruised knee muscle, recuperating veterans guard Bob Mischak and tackle Frank Youso, and defensive halfback Howie Williams with a bruised hip.

Mr. Roberts Looking For A New Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — Robin Roberts, still planning his pitching future near the end of a brilliant baseball career, has been placed on waivers by the Baltimore Orioles at his own request.

Dropped out of the starting rotation after losing seven straight decisions, the 38-year-old right-hander didn't relish his unfamiliar role as a spot starter and long reliever.

"I have no quarrel at not being used as a starter," Roberts said prior to last night's game against the Los Angeles Angels. "I just don't want to participate otherwise."

Roberts, who ranks No. 16 among all-time major league winners with 276 victories, viewed his bullpen duty as the possible prelude to his final season.

The veteran campaigner said he wanted to become a regular starter with another club for the rest of the season, "thus placing myself in a position of pitching as a regular next year."

With Oriole Manager Hank Bauer now employing five starters, Roberts said he didn't expect to get more than two or three starts the rest of the season at Baltimore.

With Baltimore second in the American League, Roberts said he didn't concern himself with missing a possible World Series check. And he denied that reaching 300 victories was a factor in wanting to continue.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Campaneris Stars, K.C, Sweeps Boston Twin Bill

By Associated Press

Bert Campaneris, who can work with either hand but would rather play, has found a job he likes. He's busy digging the Kansas City Athletics out of the American League cellar.

Campaneris, the Athletics' ambidextrous shortstop-outfielder, rapped six hits, including an inside-the-park homer, scored six runs and stole two bases last night, leading a 7-3, 10-8 KC sweep of the skidding Boston Red Sox.

The doubleheader victory moved the A's within one game of the ninth- place Red Sox. They can escape 10th place for the first time since April 21 by winning the remaining two games of the Boston series.

Campaneris, a compact 5-foot-10, 160-pound speedster who came out of Cuba in 1962 because "all my life I wanted to play in the big leagues" and hit two home runs in his debut with the Athletics last season, readily admits he didn't get his muscles picking sugar cane.

NEVER WORKED

"I never worked," he explains. "I was always playing, running and doing exercises." One of his earliest exercises — throwing rocks with each hand in the streets of Pueblo Nuevo paid off during his 1963 stint with Binghamton when he caught the first game of a doubleheader right-handed and pitched the second game left-handed.

Campy, who does everything but pitch and catch for the A's, dazzled the Red Sox with his bat and legs last night. He singled twice in the first game and stole his 35th and 37th bases — high in the league — before stroking a triple and two more singles in addition to his fourth homer in the nightcap.

He leads the league in triples with 10, ranks fifth in hits with 104 and has a creditable .273 batting average.

OTHER GAMES

At the other end of the AL ladder, first-place Minnesota, paced by Don Mincher's two-run homer in the seventh, beat Washington 9-5 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader after dropping the opener 10-7. The split cut the Twins' lead to four games over the second-place Baltimore Orioles, who edged the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere, Pedro Gonzalez led Cleveland to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox while New York and Detroit divided a twin bill, the Yankees winning the twilight game 4-3 on Tom Tresh's two-run homer and the Tigers taking the night game 3-0 with a three-run rally in the eighth.

Campaneris singled, igniting a six-run Kansas City uprising in the first inning of the nightcap at Boston, then tripled and scored in the second. After his inside-the-park shot in the third, Boston reliever Dennis Bennett drew a $50 fine for hitting Wayne Causey, the next batter with a pitch.

GRAND SLAM

Tony Conigliaro hit a grand slam homer, his third circuit of the doubleheader and 21st of the season, in the Red Sox' third but the A's pulled away again, with Campaneris adding a single and scoring another run in the eithth.

Causey and pitcher Fred Talbot each drove in two runs for Kansas City in the first and Talbot weathered two homers by Conigliaro and one by Carl Yastrzemski for his ninth victory.

Mincher's 13th home run put Minnesota ahead to stay in the Washington nightcap after Earl Battey's second homer of the evening pulled the league leaders within range. Mike Brumley, a .142 hitter going into the doubleheader, sparked the Senators in the opener with his first and second homers of the year.

WINNING RUN

Brooks Robinson's single off Dean Chance in the 10th scored Russ Snyder, who led off the inning with a pinch hit double, with the winning run at Baltimore. The loss was Chance's eighth in 14 decisions.

Gonzalez drove in three Cleveland runs with a double and single, helping Ralph Terry record his 10th victory as the third-place Indians moved within 4½ games of first place.

Whitey Ford ecame the league's first 12-game winner in the New York opener but needed relief help from Pedro Ramos and Steve Hamilton after Tresh's sixth-inning homer erased a 3-2 Detroit lead.

The Tigers broke up a scoreless duel between Joe Sparma and New York's Jim Bouton in the nightcap on Don Wert's sacrifice fly, Jerry Lumpe's squeeze bunt and a bases-loaded walk to Dick McAuliffe in the eighth. The victory was Sparma's fourth straight against the Yankees this season.

Bill Lee Is Star For Wilkins Team

Bill Lee, a young man who doubles as both a pitcher and hitter, each with quite a bit of authority, was the leading batter on the San Rafael Wilkins Post 37 American Legion baseball team this season.

Lee, former star at Terra Linda High who played frosh ball last season with University of Southern California, was one of the big reasons the team finished the North Bay American Legion Baseball League tied for the second spot behind Vacaville.

Collecting 24 hits in 65 at bats, Lee led the Winkins team in batting at .369 and in runs batted in with 21. He also had most home runs, 3, and most triples, 4. His slugging average, based on number of bases and times at bat, was a phenomenal .692.

BILL LEE
Great season

As a front line hurler, Lee compiled a 4-1 won-lost average and an earned run average of 2.25 in 52 innings pitched.

Other .300 hitters for the Wilkins team were Fred Daniele who belted the ball at a strong .341 clip, Bob Lombardi, .323, and George King, .303. Daniele plays at Terra Linda High and Lombardi and King are from Marin Catholic High School.

Pitcher Ben Burch (6-3) had the best earned run average on the team, among the regular pitchers, a lowly 1.97. He also led in strikeouts with 73 in 59⅔ innings pitched, just two more than Mike Ainslie (5-4).

San Anselmo '9' Wallops Fairfax 10-1

San Anselmo scored 8 runs in the first inning and the team's pitcher allowed only one big hit as the Hub City boys bombed Fairfax 10-1 yesterday in the San Anselmo Invitational All-Star Tournament.

That one hit stopped Les Rzepiela of a no-hit, no-run game. Fairfax' Brian Van Leuran had the hit, a homer in the fourth inning. Rzepiela struck out 14 and walked 4 in the 6-inning Major Division game.

San Anselmo's big first inning was featured by a home run by Butch Eastus and two doubles by Dan Pieri. Jeff Bernardi, Pieri and Rzepiela each had two hits for the winners.

Tonight in Minor Division action, it's Fairfax vs. Sausalito at 6 o'clock. All games are played at Memorial Park in San Anselmo.

County-By-County Forecast For Coastal Deer Hunt

Independent-Journal Sports
Wed., July 28, 1965 23

This year's early deer season which opens Aug. 7 and continues through Sept. 19 is expected to continue the buck kill trends established last year in the central coast counties when the deer take dipped in areas north of San Francisco Bay and rose in areas south of the Bay, according to the Department of Fish and Game.

The department believes this year's buck kill again will be somewhat below that of the previous year in Mendocino, Lake, Sonoma and Napa counties. The trend is expected to be more pronounced in Napa County.

The department expects about the same buck kill in Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties. Little change is expected in San Mateo and San Benito counties and there is the possibility of a slight increase in Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties, according to the department preseason surveys.

The DFG predicts that some of the best hunting in San Luis Obispo will be in areas where antlerless hunts have been held.

In counties north of the Bay Area the department expects the downward trend in buck kills to continue for at least one more year. Mild winters and good range conditions combined to produce a buildup in deer population which reached a peak in 1963. Partly as the result of poor range conditions in the winter of 1963-64 there was a substantial die-off of young deer, and the results of this die-off will be reflected in reduced kill for at least another year, the DFG predicts.

In counties south of San Francisco Bay there has been improved fawn survival in the last two years and deer populations have increased slightly since 1963.

Hunters are warned by the department that the fire danger is critical at this time of the year in nearly all hunting areas. Hunters also are cautioned to observe posted private lands and to secure permission from the landowner before hunting on any private property.

Following is the county-by-county outlook for hunting in the central coastal area, compiled from the latest reports of game managers and wardens in the field:

MENDOCINO COUNTY

The buck kill in Mendocino County this year is expected to decrease from last year's kill of 4,681 to the 1963 level of 4,367. Six-year average buck kill in this county is 4,286.

Predictions for the decline from last year are based on decreased animal survival in the Mendocino National Forest during the severe weather conditions last winter. In the rest of the county losses in the 1963 fawn crop will reduce the number of two-year-old bucks.

The only public lands open to the unattached hunter in this county are the Mendocino National Forest, Jackson State Forest between Willits and Ft. Bragg, the Cow Mountain Recreation Area and certain lumber company lands bearing Redwood Industry Recreation Area signs. Hunters in Jackson State Forest must stay out of the closed area near Parlin Fork and Chamberlin Creek Conservation Camps and Mendocino Woodland Recreation Areas.

Hunters at Mendocino National Forest should inquire at Forest Service guard stations about boundaries of Game Refuge 2-A which is closed to hunting.

Fire hazard is high throughout the county.

NAPA COUNTY

Hunters in Napa County are expected to take fewer bucks this year than last year when the kill was 1,130. The six-year average in Napa County is 1,206. Although a good carry-over of three and four-year-olds is expected, below-average survival of the 1963 fawn crop indicates a downward trend in the county's deer population.

Additional access to the Clear Lake National Co-operative Land and Wildlife Management Area has been provided during the past year. The Bureau of Land Management has constructed an improved truck trail in the Peacock Ridge region which will open new areas. At Hunting Creek water has been provided for camping.

Outside the Clear Lake National Co-operative Land and Wildlife Management Area most of the deer rangs in Napa County is on private lands.

MARIN COUNTY

The 1965 buck kill in Marin County is expected to equal that of 1964 when the take was 614 deer. Six-year average kill for the county is 656 bucks.

All of Marin County deer range is in private ownership.

SONOMA COUNTY

In Sonoma County the 1965 buck kill is expected to be less than the 1,387 deer killed in 1963. Average kill in the last six years has been 1,550 deer.

There are no lands in Sonoma County open to public hunting.

Fire danger is at a high level.

LAKE COUNTY

In Lake County hunter success is expected to decline slightly or be about the same as last year when 1,598 bucks were killed. Six-year average kill in this county is 1,684.

Access to hunting areas is much the same as last year. Cow Mountain Recreation Area and Boggs Mountain State Forest will be open to public hunting as will be the Clear Lake National Co-operative Land and Wildlife Management Area which straddles the Lake-Colusa County line between State Highway 20 on the south and Bartlett Springs County Road on the north. A new logging road from Bear Creek to Snow Mountain House will provide access to a region generally inaccessible last year.

Hunters are cautioned to observe the posted boundaries of State Game Refuge 2-A while driving into the Hull Mountain hunting area in Mendocino National Forest.

Increase in logging, habitat improvement projects and wildfires should result in higher deer kill in Mendocino National Forest.

MONTEREY COUNTY

Good survival of the 1962 and 1963 fawn crops should result in another increase in the buck kill in this county this year. Last year's take was 1,968 bucks—up more than 350 from the year before. The six-year average buck kill in Monterey County is 2,239. The deer are in good condition and well distributed throughoutt he county.

Los Padres National Forest is open to the public for hunting. Because of extreme fire danger a special permit is required for the northern part of the forest. This can be obtained at forest headquarters in King City or at forest guard stations in the forest. A campfire permit is required throughout the forest. Access to the national forest is via Carmel Valley and Chews Ridge, Greenfield and Arroyo Seco, King City and Jolon, and from Highway 1 along the coast.

Hunter Liggett, Camp Roberts and Ft. Ord Military Reservations will be open to hunting on a limited basis. Permits are required. Hunter Liggett will use a reservation system, supplemented by a first-come, first-served system. Ft. Ord and Camp Roberts will use only the first-come, first-served system to fill their quotas which can be changed daily to meet military requirements at the bases.

Aside from the national forest and the military reservations, most of the county is in private ownership and is closed to hunters unless they have the permission of the landowner to hunt.

ALAMEDA, CONTRA COSTA AND SANTA CLARA COUNTIES

The number of bucks killed in these three counties this year is expected to be about the same as last year when hunters bagged 374 bucks in Alameda, 148 in Contra Costa and 772 in Santa Clara County. The take in 1964 was below the five-year average in all three counties. Although the deer population is down in these areas, the animals are in good condition.

Lack of rainfall in recent months has resulted in hazardous fire conditions and hunters are urged to use extreme care.

All deer range in these three counties is on private lands. Hunters are cautioned that the Mt. Diablo State Park has been enlarged 3,000 acres in the past year. The entire park is closed to hunting.

SANTA CRUZ AND SAN MATEO COUNTIES

The buck kill in Santa Cruz County this year is expected to equal last year's when hunters took 167 deer. Average kill for the past six years is 194. Hunters in San Mateo County should take as many, and possibly more, bucks than last year when the kill was 123. Average kill for the last six years in San Mateo County is 200.

Forage conditions have improved in both counties this year and deer are in good condition.

Fire hazard is at high level on the inland slopes.

All deer hunting areas in these two counties are on private lands. Hunters are cautioned to keep out of state park areas.

SAN LUIS OBISPO

The buck kill in San Luis Obispo County this year is expected to equal or top last year's take of 1,778 which was above the 1963 kill of 1,235 and the six-year average of 1,565. The Adelaida-El Pomas area should produce the best hunting. Extreme fire danger exists throughout the county.

Hunters in Los Padres National Forest must obtain permits from forest headquarters in King City or at guard stations in the forest.

Aside from the national forest the remainder of the county is in private ownership and permission to hunt must be obtained from the landowner.

SAN BENITO COUNTY

A slight increase in the buck kill in this county is expected for the 1965 hunting season. Last year the kill was 649, well below the six-year average of 900. Good survival of the 1962 and 1963 fawn crop should result in an increase in the number of two and three-year old deer killed this year.

Ample spring rainfall followed by dry summer months has resulted in good vegetation production and extreme fire danger.

In San Benito County only one area is open to the public for hunting. This is the New Idria National Co-operative Land and Wildlife Management Area. Access to this area can be gained from Hollister and Paicines on the north, Bitterwater on the west, and Coalinga on the southeast. Access to all other public lands in the county is blocked by adjacent private property.

Deer are in good condition and are evenly distributed throughout the county.

S.F. Man's 2,500-Mile Swim

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sometime next week a San Francisco bartender, who spends more time in the water than serving it, will attempt to swim the Mississippi River from Lake Itasca, Minn., to the Gulf of Mexico.

That's more than 2,500 miles as the water flows, and, if all goes well, Dave Smith thinks he can accomplish the swim in about three months.

Smith, a 26-year-old bachelor who was a member of the All-America junior college relay team in 1957 while a student at Menlo College, started swimming distance races "for laughs" last summer and, as he says, "now I'm hooked."

As a warmup for the Mississippi swim, Smith covered about 52 miles down the Sacramento River, from Sacramento to Pittsburg near the Carquinez Straits, last week. He had intended to swim 66 miles in all but called it quits after three days because of heavy winds.

"As far as I'm concerned, I accomplished what I set out to do," he said of the Sacramento swim. "Now I'm ready for the Mississippi."

To get an idea of what it takes to swim the Mississippi, Smith will need three men to help him in boats, a houseboat with a trailer and motor, a canoe, and a truck for towing the trailer.

In addition, there must be enough food for four men for 90 days, gas for the truck and boats and countless miscellaneous items. In all, a trip of this type will cost upwards of $13,000.

The first 513 miles — from Lake Itasca to Minneapolis — figures to be the toughest. Smith will need two men to accompany him in a canoe, which will have to be carried around 14 dams and any obstacles or rapids. Because of anticipated debris in the water, Dave will have to do a considerable amount of walking, crawling and climbing in addition to swimming.

Around Minneapolis, the houseboat will be put into the water and make the rest of the trip with Smith. From Minneapolis to St. Louis there are 29 dams with locks. Once below St. Louis, there are no major obstacles but plenty of commercial traffic.

He has to start in early August so as to catch the river at its lowest stages near the Gulf in October.

Outside of a sense of accomplishment, Smith doesn't hope to get anything out of his marathon swims.

"Just knowing that I have done something no one else has done is enough for me," he said. "In swimming the Mississippi I'll be doing just that."

Swim Classes Are Still Open

Two special classes — junior and senior lifesaving and adult swimming—started this week in the Novato High School pool and openings in each are still available, it was announced by Ed Adams, director of the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

The junior and senior lifesaving classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30. The class started yesterday and will end Aug. 26. The adult swimming lessons for beginners and intermediates are held Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. This class will run through Aug. 25.

Registration for both classes can be made by calling the Novato Parks and Recreation Department. Fee is $3.50 for the lifesaving course and $5 for the adult swimming lessons.

Robinson Beats Young Walcott

Robinson weighed 161, Walcott 159.

Robinson, five-time former middleweight king who is campaigning for another shot at the crown at the age of 44, dominated the fight and won easily while evening his record for the year at 3-3. It was his second victory over Walcott, 29, of Philadelphia, son of former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott.

The fight was stopped briefly in the eighth round while doctors examined a cut over Walcott's left eye, but the physicians allowed the bout to continue.

The victory gave Robinson a record of 67 victories, 17 defeats, and six draws in 26 years of boxing.

CANNING TIME is here again and from tomatoes come delicious chili sauce and tomato juice. Both may be seasoned to your own idea of perfection.

Tomato Canning Season Brings Choice Of Juice, Chili Sauce

Thirty pounds of firm, sound, fully ripe tomatoes should yield 6 to 8 quarts of juice — juice seasoned to your own idea of perfection.

If you do not grow your own tomatoes, watch for good buys at the peak of the season, and watch what you buy. Soft, moldy, cracked or decay-spotted tomatoes are unfit for canning in any form. A product made from such tomatoes may or may not keep, but is sure to have an off flavor.

CAN TOMATO JUICE

Wash, rinse and drain red-ripe tomatoes. Cut out core and blossom end. Do not skin. Cut each tomato in several pieces. Slowly cook (simmer) tomatoes in covered kettle until they are soft, then put them through food mill or press through sieve. Reheat juice to boiling and pour to within ¼ inch of the top of home canning jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Process quarts and 1½ pint jars 15 minutes, pints 10 minutes, in boiling-water bath canner.

CHILI SAUCE

makes 5 or 6 pints

- 4 quarts chopped tomatoes
- 2 cups chopped onions
- 1 cup chopped red sweet peppers
- 1 pod hot pepper
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 3 tablespoons mixed pickling spices
- 2½ cups vinegar

Wash and drain vegetables. Scald, core and peel red-ripe tomatoes. Peel onions; remove seed from peppers; chop and measure all vegetables. (You may drain off free liquid to save a little cooking time.)

Mix all ingredients except spices and vinegar. Boil 45 minutes. Add spices (tied in bag). Boil until very thick, then add vinegar and boil until as thick as wanted. (Taste; add more seasoning and sugar if wanted.) Pour boiling hot sauce into hot fruit jars. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight.

HOMEMADE LIVER pate, served sliced as a first course or on crackers as an hors d' oeuvre, will get talked about.

Homemade Liver Pate Easy And Original For Parties

There's bound to be a party coming up. One that you will have to give. Possibly even one that you might want to give. Note this idea now for future reference; it's so good it mustn't be forgotten.

The most talked-about food item at the party will be this liver pate. It always is. To start with, it looks like something ordered from an expensive caterer. It tastes like it was prepared by a talented French chef from a carefully-guarded secret recipe.

LIVER PATE

- 2 pounds beef liver
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 3 cups cold water
- 3 vegetable bouillon cubes
- 1 small onion, grated
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon aromatic bitters

Cover beef liver with water and bring to boil. Lower heat and simmer for 10 minutes or until liver is tender. Drain and put through food chopper. Sprinkle unflavored gelatin into 1 cup of cold water. Let stand 5 minutes. Add bouillon cubes and stir over low heat until gelatin and cubes are dissolved. Stir in remaining water and onion, lemon juice and salt. Chill until mixture is syrupy. Fold in ground liver and bitters. Beat with rotary egg beater until well blended. Pour mixture into a lightly oiled 9x5x3 inch loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold and cut into slices to serve as first course on lettuce leaves. For hors d'oeuvres, cube and serve on crackers or on top of bread squares. Makes 1—9x5x3 inch loaf.

Fool-Proof Recipe For Cheese Souffle

The art of making a good souffle has been the pride of many a fine chef for centuries and undoubtedly a challenge to the homemaker for as long. So, to help the homemaker match the chef's pride, the experts have developed a fool-proof recipe for a golden cheese souffle. Made with American cheese spread loaf it bursts with tangy flavor. Success is a certainty if one takes heed of the well-tested recipe and hints.

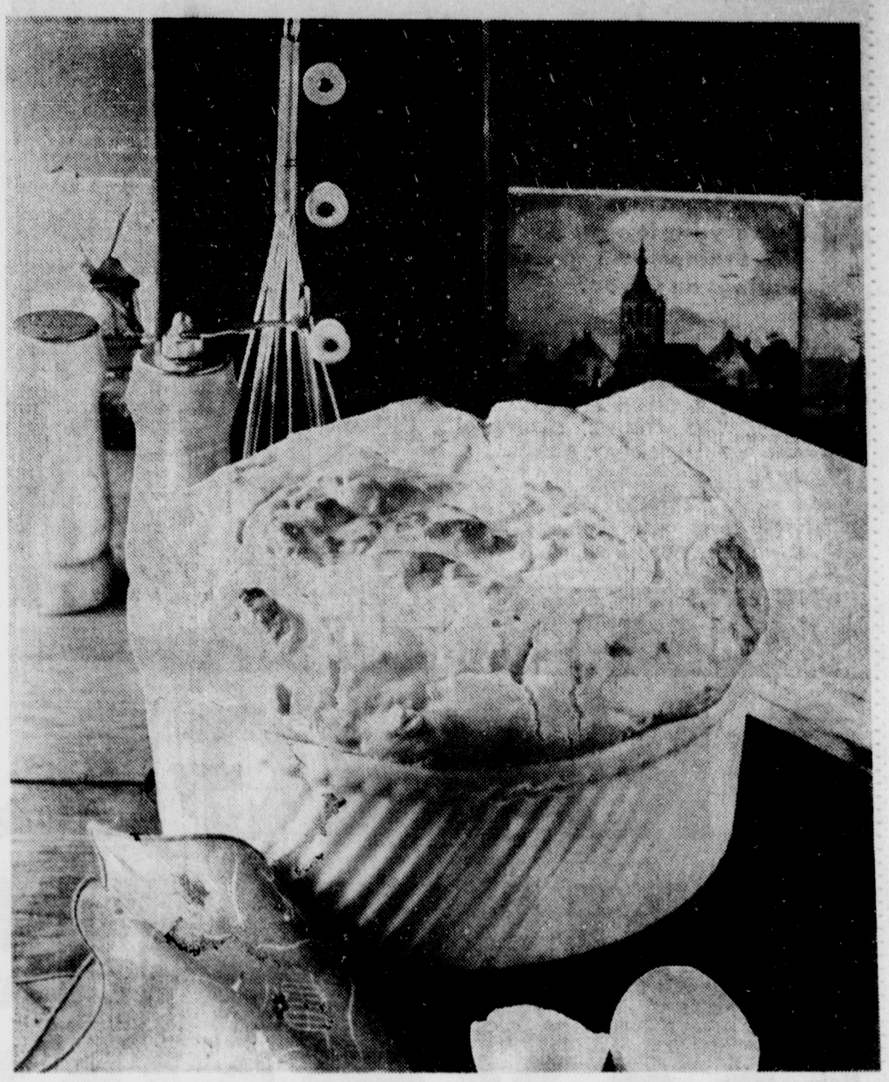

KNOWING SOME facts about souffles can help win half the preparation battle. All souffles are categorized as either savory or sweet, hot or cold. Flavored with caynne, mustard and served immediately from the oven, the new Cheese Souffle recipe is of the hot, savory variety.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

(Makes 1 ½ qt. souffle)

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup homogenized milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash cayenne
- Dash pepper
- 2 cups (one-fourth of 2-lb. loaf) pasteurized process american cheese spread, shredded
- 4 eggs, separated
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

IN A MEDIUM-sized saucepan, melt margarine over low heat. Slowly blend in flour. Gradually add milk; stir continuously until mixture is thick and begins to boil. Blend in seasonings and shredded cheese. Continue to stir over low heat until cheese melts. Remove from heat; set aside. In a small mixing bowl, beat egg yolks to a light lemon color. Gradually stir a little of the hot cheese sauce into beaten yolks. Blend into remaining cheese sauce. In a narrow-bottom mixing bowl, combine egg whites and cream of tartar. With a rotary beater, beat until soft peaks form. Gently fold cheese sauce into egg whites until evenly blended. Turn into an ungreased 1½ quart casserole. With a spatula, slice a deep ring around the edge of batter, about one-inch from sides of dish. Do not touch sides or bottom of dish. Set in a 1 inch hot water bath. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven 20 minutes. Remove from oven; quickly re-slice the ring into the top of souffle. Return to oven; bake 30-35 minutes longer, or until golden brown. Serve immediately.

CHEESE SOUFFLE is a delightful surprise to serve to the family for a special occasion breakfast. Also, it's a welcomed main dish for luncheon or dinner; just accompany with a favorite vegetable or salad. Serve with hot, flaky refrigerated biscuits and steaming coffee.

Sausalitans Return On Ketch 'Sikrid'

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Bowman are settling down to life as usual in Sausalito after considerable traveling. Dr. Bowman, who is part owner of the 47-ft. Alden ketch "Sikrid" with Peter Vandermale of Mill Valley, did the navigating on a cruise they started on April 12. With them was John Ravizza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ravizza of Strawberry. They cruised down the coast, stopping at Santa Barbara, Newport Beach, San Diego and Baha before reaching La Paz, Mexico, where Mrs. Bowman joined her husband. They flew home and the "Sikrid" went on to the Hawaiian Islands, returning last week.

The Bowmans took their own 10-day trip to the Islands, returning in time to greet their daughter, Anne Romayne Bowman, who was coming home after spending two years at Saint Blaise in Switzerland, where she was graduated from La Chatelainie High School. The Bowmans' other daughter, Pamela Kay Bowman, is home from the University of California, where she will return in the fall as a junior.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Cosgrave and daughter are among the new residents on Linden Lane in San Rafael. They were recently visited by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cosgrave, Sanger ranchers in the San Joaquin Valley, where his older brother, Robert, is also a rancher. The Cosgraves moved from Fairfax to San Rafael.

THE MARIN Country Club Estates home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nave was the setting Sunday for a barbecue. Mr. Nave barbecued steaks for the guests including Messrs. and Mesdames Anthony Wiechers, Louis Campagno, A. G. Lindauer and Charles Hancock, all of the Estates, the William Grays of Kent Woodlands and the Nave's houseguests, formerly of Novato and now of Sun City, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Willian Gerton.

ANN E. TREVERTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Treverton of Mill Valley, has been awarded honors entrance at the University of California at San Diego. She was graduated from Tamalpais High School, where she was a member of Honor T. California scholastic federation, Pi Alpha Tau and the Girls' Athletic Assoc.

THE JOE ASIANOS of Kentfield will depart on Aug. 4 for a six week tour of Italy. They will fly via the polar route to London, then Copenhagen, Zurich, and Milan. From there they will tour Italy. They will visit Mr. Asiano's home town of Ostuni, in Brindisi Province, and all the small towns in the area where he played in the band as a young man. They will also visit Mrs. Asiano's birth place of Peterone in Introdacqua Province.

Balmain's Willowy Girls Show Naked Shoulders, Slit Skirts

PARIS (UPI) — Flowing chiffon evening gowns baring one powdered shoulder . . . slinky floor-length dresses slit to the knee: such were the touches of new glamour presented Tuesday to buyers and the press at the style show of designer Pierre Balmain.

EVER SINCE designer Cristobal Balenciaga tried a bare shoulder gown last year, and Jacqueline Kennedy put one on the front pages, the idea has been catching on.

Balmain, the dresser of queens and film stars, tried the naked shoulder with a short heavy white silk evening dress. Two of his willowy models also paraded by in flowing chiffon long gowns, one in red and the other black. One shoulder was bare and the other decorated with a velvet bow.

THOSE SLIT skirts that provocatively bared the leg to just above the knee came in clinging high-necked crepes such as one in red, topped by a tailored jacket, that showed every bone and muscle in the model's body.

Another floor length gown that had the fashion press applauding had an orange beaded, high-necked top and slim deep olive green skirt slit to the knee, the slit edged with the orange beads.

BALMAIN TOUCH—

STILL ANOTHER winner: A floor length bright orange wool coat, tailored like a boy's jacket, with brown mink collar and cuffs. Underneath was an ivory-colored wool gown also cut to show the leg to the knee.

AFTER MONDAY'S showings of zippy, young fashions set to "yeah yeah" music, Balmain's usually elegant collection had the air of real fashion.

It's difficult to report any major trends from a Balmain show because the master changes styles only slightly. His clothes are timeless and bought by the very, very rich.

EVEN BALMAIN'S mannequins—mostly tall and English—are taught to look rich, with a slight "who cares?" air as they saunter through his ivory salon. One for example, wearing a cocktail dress of bands of black velvet and chiffon, casually dragged a $10,000 black velvet coat lined with black fox fur on the floor. Get the idea?

Gerber:...of course!

Color and flavor are more important to your baby than you might think. They heighten his interest in food—to build good eating habits that will stand him in good stead all his life.

"Custom-cooking" is the rule at Gerber. Fruits can be cooked in a flash. Other foods go through a slower process. Each cooking method has been developed to meet the requirements of a particular food.

Ocean-Defying Widow Tells Story Of Her Epic Voyage

(Editor's Note—Sharon Sites, 34, a Los Angeles widow, last week completed a 40-day single-handed Pacific Ocean crossing from Los Angeles to Hawaii in her 25-foot sloop Sea Sharp. She describes her experiences in the following story written exclusively for The Associated Press.)

By SHARON SITES

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP)—Now I've known fear and loneliness.

And perhaps loneliness is the worst part.

Unless you've sat in a boat for five days on end, knowing you're just a speck in a large ocean, this feeling you can never in your wildest dreams imagine. Not unless you've been there, that is.

It was nine months ago, while I was out for a Sunday afternoon drive in Los Angeles, headed no place, killing time, that I found myself at the marina. On an impulse, I drove down. I learned of Al Adams and his sailing school and took down the phone number from a billboard.

A few days later I started my sailing lessons.

At that time, of course, I had never considered ever sailing farther than, perhaps, Catalina Island, about 22 miles off the coast.

Almost five months to the day, on June 12, I was sailing away from the California coast heading toward Hawaii in my own 25-foot sloop Sea Sharp. I had spent my life savings to buy and equip her.

I pointed my Sea Sharp toward Hawaii 2,200 miles away.

But the winds became light—too light. I was discouraged there for a while. I was virtually becalmed for 12 days. In all that time, I just hadn't gone anywhere to speak of. I began despairing that I would get any winds but on June 24 I got them—from nothing they picked up and up right up to around 65 m.p.m.

This was to be the most frightening part of my voyage and often I wished myself back home in Los Angeles, in a comfortable bed.

I knew the Lord had his hand on my shoulder and the Sea Sharp eventually rode out the storm.

I figured my bearings and wrote in my log, "Half of the time is gone and I have covered only one-fourth of the distance." It was only about 600 miles from the California coast, and that's when the depression began.

I had visions of being a derelict at sea if this was to be my rate of progress. My mental salvation came with the hours I spent daily writing my long and taking pictures.

I think I lost something between 20 and 25 pounds those first two or three weeks of the voyage, but I gained about 10 pounds back before I reached Hawaii.

July 2 was a big day at sea for me. Unfortunately, I had no one or anything to share it with. I'd taken along my pet Thailand turtle but she died 14 days out.

But on July 2 we — the boat and I — found the trade winds which carry you to Hawaii. I had my Fourth of July celebration two days early.

By July 6, after four days of steady progress, and realizing I could average 83 miles a day, I spent hours calculating "Was it still possible that I could arrive before July 22?" I wrote in my log, "I know if the winds stay with me now, it is still possible." . . .

I wrote in my log my estimated time of arrival, "July 21st at 2 a.m."

I was actually offshore - off Oahu Island - at 11 p.m. on the 20th, three hours ahead of my ETA. I was very proud.

I passed Kokohead and Diamond Head without fully realizing it.

In the darkness, distance is deceptive and when I came upon two channel marker lights I knew I was too close to the reef.

I had been warned about attempting to navigate through the reefs and into the harbor on my own. I knew, too, that I was too close and it was at this point that I decided to fire my "Very" pistol.

I loaded it, but I didn't do it properly. The gun backfired on me, hurting my right wrist. I thought the wrist was broken. It might as well have been because it swelled up and I couldn't use it. I was in great pain and knew that even if I wanted to I couldn't handle the boat and bring her into harbor.

What was worse, nobody saw the flare.

Shortly after dawn, this was the 40th day, I saw the fishing boat Catherine S., and I can tell you, it took me time to pluck up enough courage to fire that pistol again.

The thought went through my mind, "Suppose I damage my left arm as well." I was almost helpless as it was. I couldn't handle the Sea Sharp. But I fired by second flare and the Cathesrine S., came alongside. The skipper called the Coast Guard.

At 11:45 a.m. a Coast Guard towline was secured to my boat and I knew my long voyage was at its end.

These few words can hardly begin to capture the ordeal of my 39 days at sea, but the warm reception granted me at the dock by my friends and the people of Hawaii will remain as one of the highlights of my adventure.

Red China Teaching Children To Hate U.S.

By DORIS RICH
Worldwide Press Service

HONG KONG — The children of Communist China are being taught to hate Americans. Reports received here indicate they are learning their lessons well.

An English traveler who recently spent three weeks in Red China told this correspondent, "I saw a lot of children and they were all very cold and reserved at first, until they discovered I was not an American. Then the barriers went down.

"When I told one group I knew some very nice Americans, they simply refused to believe it. It was like trying to convince a group of medieval European children there were a lot of nice Muslin infidels during the Crusades."

In the popular musical "South Pacific," there was a song which said that to develop racial hatred "children have to be taught, carefully taught." A generation of Chinese children, who will one day represent the world's most populous nation, are being taught, carefully taught, that Americans are their enemy.

"Take part in revolutionary struggles from an early age," urges the Young Communist League. "Hate the Americans and support the Vietnamese people's anti - American struggles."

China's most popular children's magazine, "Hsiao Pun Yu," (Small Friends) has published the following verse for its six to ten-year-old readers:

"There is an evil sprite,
The name is Johnson.
His mouth is all sweetness
But he has a wolf's heart.
He bombs Vietnamese cities
And kills the people
Chinese and Vietnamese are all one family.
We will certainly not agree to this.
I wear a red scarf
And join the demonstrations with Daddy.
With small throat but large voice, I shout,
'U.S. pirates get out, get out, get out'."

"Children should be given military sports," advises the Communist Party, "to be prepared to defend the motherland.

The New China News Agency reports that recommended sports include shooting, cross-country running, military camping, signal communications and anti-aircraft activities. In anti-aircraft practice, children are urged to compensate for shortage of arms and ammunition by imagining their kites are enemy planes.

Youngsters are also encouraged to practice traditional Chinese swordplay and boxing. Wooden bayonets, covered with phosphorescent paint which "shines like steel in the dark" are recommended.

To make sure the military games are taken seriously, they are accompanied by intensive doses of Communist indoctrination.

I nthe cities of Sian, Hsienyang and Paochi, 178 children's "activity centers" have been established. Radio Sian reported that 13,000 children visit the centers daily, reading communist books, learning revolutionary stories, and singing Red songs.

Americans abound in pictures and stories, as "snake-headed and "paper tigers." In the songs, love is directed to Comrade Mao, and hatred is for "the enemies of revolution"—the Americans.

Some 200 children were reported to have given a demonstration of military sports and and games in Changsha.

Boys and girls from nine to 12 years of age showed how they would blow up an enemy fortress, and haw they would cut their way through barbed wire and trenches.

Lumbermen Make Good Try To Live With Conservation

The Redwood Park and Recreation Committee, composed of North Coast civic leaders and fostered by the lumber industry, has come up with a park and recreation plan, whose aim is twofold: (1) to add acreage to existing state parks in the redwood regions of Humboldt, Del Norte and Mendocino Counties, and (2) to open up private forest land to the public for fishing, hunting, hiking, trail riding, and picnicking.

The lumber industry contends that public conservation and private lumber industry can exist side by side; that the Redwood Park and Recreation Plan can be advanced without undue economic hardship to the redwood area and to the people that the industry supports.

We commend the lumber industry for coming up with a concrete and constructive proposal for conservation instead of just sitting back and acting as obstructionist to any and all conservation moves.

Some 8,000 acres of redwood groves now held by private owners should be added to the state parks. Among the additions would be nine miles along the "Avenue of the Giants" on Highway 101 in Humboldt County, and access to the Tall Trees discovered last year near Orick.

Timber companies would also open about 230,000 acres of private forest areas for public recreation beginning next month. This area would run between Crescent City and the Navarro River near Ukiah.

Old growth stands of redwoods in the stream bottoms are being saved for the enjoyment of future generations. The redwood industry agrees that these magnificent groves should be saved.

The lumber industry's proposed Redwood Park and Recreation Plan may not be exactly a conservationist's dream. But it is evidence of the industry's recognition that financial gain must be tempered by the needs of conservatiton and recreation.

We believe the plan represents a sincere effort on the part of industry to cooperate with the state's conservation drive. As such, it deserves serious consideration.

Criticism Of Policy Is Not Disloyalty

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your lead editorial of July 19, you imply that criticism of American foreign policy in Viet Nam is a disservice to the country. You also state that it is disrespectful to the memory of the late Mr. Stevenson. You especially take to task members of the clergy who speak out against that foreign policy. This is pretty shallow thinking, Mr. Editor, and I am shocked. It also implies that you knew Mr. Stevenson's private thoughts regarding Viet Nam—which I doubt.

If you believe that there is no higher authority in the world than American foreign policy, then I think it is extremely hypocritical of you to continue to display fine religious cartoons on your editorial page every Saturday. Obviously the clergy feel that they are answerable to a higher authority than American foreign policy.

But leaving God out of it altogether, every thinking person I know believes that our allegiance to mankind and to the survival of the world should supersede our respect for American foreign policy. But leaving mankind out of this a good American citizen disagrees loudly with his government when he feels that he must or should. You ought to know that, Mr. Editor.

True Liberal Is Not Bribed By Handout

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Who are the True Liberals today? . . .

Now we have a government seeking the powers taken away from King John when he signed Magna Carta in 1215. Too bad King John did not have some Harvard graduates to envision the Welfare State, giving back to the people that which they had taken away, less the cut the bureaucrats got. It would have saved us a lot of trouble today.

Many NEW LIBERALS abhor the police state, merely wanting to do good and improve the lot of mankind, but they want the government to have unlimited power to do good. New Liberals are playing the Communist game, meaning well but failing to recognize the harsh truth of Lord Acton's dictum, "All power tends to corrupt, but absolute power corrupts absolutely." If we follow them we shall end as slaves to an Authoritan (or disobedience to authority) State. This is not the goal of the New Liberal but it is the destination to which they, and us, are headed.

No one objects to charity but the indiscriminate throwing away of money (obtained by raising the National Debt) is immoral.

The True Liberal today is the one believing in Responsible Government, not those believing in the obedience to authority, bribed by a handout.

Suggestions Wanted For Senior Citizens

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of July 20 praises Marin County's "Master Plan for Older Adults." That report inspired me to volunteer to try to initiate some of the recommendations in my own town of Mill Valley.

Instead of starting with a place or a name or a program, I should like to invite adults of any age or interest to get in touch with me to discuss ideas and possibilities. Then we might try things out with very small groups in different places.

In talking with my own close neighbors, one of the first needs expressed was for arrangements to share transportation. Some people stay away from events which would interest them because they do not drive, while others stay home because they do not like to go alone in their cars.

Another interest is in outdoor activities that are not too vigorous, so a "Half-Mile Hikers" group has been suggested, with those who can working up to greater distances. Someone remembered the old Mill Valley Forum and wished it could be revived.

Anyone interested in joining me in "brain-storming," who has ideas or wants some, is invited to telephone or write or call on me, or invite me to call on them.

Our Nation's Honor Not Political Football

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Mr. Paul Haerle's letter of July 20.

We in the Marin Young Democrats believe it is not only our right but our duty to speak the truth as we see it. It is time people stopped playing politics with Vietnamese lives.

It is time truth took precedence over patriotism. The American honor is not a political football. Our honor depends on our devotion to the truth. It is time people stopped remaining silent.

Our government, whether under Republican or Democratic control, is never in a state of perfection. Attempting to discover and correct its flaws demonstrates our love for the avowed principles of this nation.

Mr. Haerle demands that we be repudiated for our call for a cease-fire in Viet Nam. But does he attack our reasons for this call? No. Does he attempt to begin a reasonable debate? No.

Instead, he attacks the people who have taken a similar stand as "adolescent leftists," "appeasers and defeatists." For no thinking American will the use of these epithets detract from our argument.

The Young Democrats have invited Mr. Haerle to speak on the Viet Nam question. He has eagerly accepted. This encourages my respect for him. It is important in this time of crisis that we speak without fear or prejudice to each other.

Moon Mullins, Annie Are Both Disgusting

I am quite displeased with this change from McGurk's Mob to Moon Mullins. The headlines are bad enough, but Moon is ridiculous.

I am even more disgusted by Orphan Annie. She is never funny. No one reads her. I suggest that you put in her place something that everybody reads, and change back to McGurk's Mob. Thank you.

'Gag Rule' Just As Unfair When Imposed By Liberals

WASHINGTON — When you read about "gag rule" in Congress, usually it's about political conservatives who want to bottle up legislation they don't like and keep it from coming to a vote.

Now the other side of the coin is coming into view.

THIS TIME IT IS the Democratic liberals who want to rush through repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley law by using a form of "gag rule" to deny adequate debate and consideration of significant amendments.

Supporters of its repeal see it as crucial to maintain the bargaining strength of the unions. Supporters of its retention see it as crucial to allow states to determine for themselves whether workers shall be required to join unions in order to hold their jobs.

THIS IS NO routine decision. It should be taken only after adequate debate and freedom to consider valid amendments on the floor of the House.

What will prevent it? Here's what's happening and how it comes about:

When Congress convened last January, Democratic and Republican liberals joined in passing a new House rule—and a good one. This rule provides that, if the rules committee has kept a bill for more than 21 days, any member of another committee which has considered it may call it up before the House.

Good. A handful of Congressmen should not have the power to deny the House the right to consider legislation.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., chairman of the labor and education committee, proposes to use this new rule shortly to bring before the House a bill to repeal Section 14(b) of Taft-Hartley.

BUT WHAT IS HE going to ask the House to do?

He is proposing a two-hour limit on debate. Two hours, that is, not even two days — less than 19 seconds for each of the 435 members of the House to discuss this significant action.

He is proposing such a tight limit on the right of Congressmen to offer amendments that the House is, in effect, restricted to repealing Section 14(b) Mr. Powell's way or not at all.

No wonder the entire House Republican leadership, from Gerald Ford of Michigan to Charles Goodell of New York —neither of whose states have enacted "right to work" laws—is asking every Republican and as many others as agree with them to vote against this kind of inadequate debate and inadequate consideration of alternatives.

THE GOP LEADERSHIP is not, per se, asking them to vote against repeal, but to vote against Mr. Powell's rush-it-through tactics. The House has wisely ended "gag rule" by the rules committee. It ought not to accept "gag rule" on the floor.

Deaths Of Informers Hurt War On Crime

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The federal government is suffering increasing casualties in its war against organized crime.

MORE THAN 25 key informers have met violent and mysterious deaths since the Justice Department launched its drive four years ago against the nation's top hoodlums.

That is the ominous report Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has given the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee probing the illegal use of wiretapping and listening devices by government agencies.

In a major move to stave off congressional action to curb federal law officers' investigative methods, Katzenbach has warned the legislators that the death toll among persons cooperating with U.S. law enforcement officials is the heaviest since the roaring twenties.

"It is difficult for someone who does not regularly see reports of nation-wide criminal activity to comprehend fully the toll of violence and death being caused by organized crime," Katzenbach reported. "We have lost more than 25 informants by violent and mysterious accidents in the past four years. We have been unable to bring hundreds of hoodlums to trial because key witnesses would not testify for fear of the same fate."

The government's chief law enforcement officer revealed that Justice Department informers have been "hung from a meat hook in a freezer, tortured and then burned alive."

"IN ONE INSTANCE," he pointed out, "the body of an informant, a key witness against organized crime, turned up in a river wearing concrete boots."

In furnishing these grisly details of growing underworld terror tactics to the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Edward Long, D-Mo., the attorney general assured the legislators that "no matter how brutal organized crime may be, it does not justify the use of improper investigative techniques."

"But I believe its brutality does help explain the intensity of feeling held by the federal agents who deal with it day after day, often risking their own safety to do so," he explained. "It should not be hard to conceive of their frustration when after months or years on a case we find we are forced to dismiss it because a key witness had an 'accident'."

According to Justice Department aides, Katzenbach gave the subcommittee these heretofore secret figures on casualties among the government's "informers" because of concern that the Senate probers might try to discredit their use by government agencies.

KATZENBACH'S aides stress that the attorney general supports the position of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that "informers" are vital in the government's war against organized crime.

The Central Intelligence Agency also is suffering an alarming increase in casualties among its Cuban "informers."

While CIA authorities are not discussing this problem with Congress, they are conducting their own investigation to ascertain whether "leaks" or "espionage" within the government is responsible for their losses.

Within two weeks after an intelligence estimate on the anti-Castro underground was circulated within the State Department, Fidel Castro's secret police had rounded up more than half of those whose names appeared in the document.

"The crackdown was so thorough that Castro's agents could only have done the job with inside information," stated a reliable State Department source. "The Cuban police used lists identical to those contained in the U.S. document in making their arrests."

THE CASTRO RAIDS destroyed one of the CIA's most effective transmission lines from Cuba. Several anti-Castro exile groups that had cooperated with the agency prior to the crackdown are now refusing to do so. They are afraid key "informers" still operating in Cuba will be exposed.

ROBBER GIVEN SECOND CHANCE

A repentant thief who returned the $8,000 that he stole from the grocery store where he had worked as a clerk gave this explanation for his change of heart: "I was disgusted with myself."

The owner of another food shop, who heard that the remorseful robber had lost his job and was in financial straits, looked him up and hired him as manager of the night shift in his own shop. "The man needed a job," he said, "and I needed a man."

The new employer felt that the man had learned a lesson from his unfortunate experience and was willing to give him another chance to prove himself.

It is seldom easy to determine how much confidence should be shown wrongdoers who are truly contrite and still avoid giving them the impression that their sinful deeds are to be treated lightly.

But one safe rule to follow is to show transgressors the same mercy and tangible assistance that you ask God to show you when you make a mistake, confess it, make retribution and resolve to amend your life.

May I always be as merciful, O divine Savior, as You are to me.

Republicans Make Political Hay Of Splits In Democratic Party

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Republicans of California aren't going to sleep at the switch while the high echelons of the Democratic Party feud. In fact, one of the leading GOP assemblymen has suggested that a Democrat other than Gov. Edmund G. Brown be the candidate for the nomination next year.

IN MAKING this suggestion, Assemblyman George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, had some extremely harsh words to say about Governor Brown, while at the same time he gave Brown's Democratic adversary, Speaker of the House Jesse M. Unruh, a real boost for the Democratic nomination.

Deukmejian called upon Democratic leaders to "persuade Governor Brown to step aside and allow an open Democratic primary in 1966, in order to give voters a choice between the current administration and the more moderate policies of Speaker Unruh."

The Long Beach assemblyman, who is also the Republican whip in the House, commented as follows:

"California Democrats realize that Jesse Unruh represents the more responsible element of their party—it is high time that they are relieved of their shackles and are given the opportunity to select the candidate of their choice next spring.

"While Governor Brown bobs and weaves in desperate attempts to defend his wild programs, Speaker Unruh calmly and intelligently carries the ball for the Democrats, and time and again has demonstrated that he is the real leader in Sacramento — not Brown.

"Although I have basic philosophical differences with both Brown and Unruh, I strongly feel that Californians, whatever their political beliefs, have a right to select their standard bearer in free and open elections."

THUS DEUKMEJIAN indicates that, if Governor Brown starts after a third term in the primaries, all other Democrats will be forced out of the running. This, no doubt, is correct, since even Unruh has said he definitely will not run if he must oppose Brown.

The situation is different in the Republican Party. Indications are now that the ballot could be flooded with GOP hopefuls in the primary, which will certainly provide members of the minority party with an "open choice."

"The bitter legislative brawl of 1965 has left Governor Brown battered. His inability to provide proper leadership on budgetary and fiscal matters, plus the Brown-Unruh split, are two of the biggest assets the Republican Party has for next year's campaign.

"The governor's wing of the Democratic Party, backed by the CDC (Congress of Dubious Causes) is now engaged in a fight for its life against the moderate wing of the Democratic Party led by Jesse Unruh and Sam Yorty."

THE COST of Prejudice: Barney Dreyfuss, once president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, refused to buy "Tris" Speaker, on the threshold of a career of stardom, from the Little Rock baseball club for the munificent sum of $400. "I know he's a great fielder and hitter," admitted Dreyfuss, "but they tell me the young fellow smokes cigarettes."

IN THE GOOD old days in Dublin when the Irish were fighting for independence, one doughty son of Erin went to his confessor and told him he had just mowed down two British lieutenants. Hearing no response he announced in a louder voice that he also had done away with a British captain. Still there was no comment from the priest, so the frustrated Irishman shouted, "Father, have you fainted?"

"Fainted I haven't," the confessor finally replied. "I'm waiting for you to stop talking politics and commence confessing your sins."

French Historian Contradicts Myth Of The Negro's Laziness

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.

There is a body of vocal and angry white Americans who have convinced themselves that Negro citizens "want everything on a silver platter."

THEY INSIST that Negroes should "work to improve themselves just like everybody else."

Now the peculiar thing about this argument—which has a way of popping up in the opinion polls—is that it is contrary to every shred of fact and evidence known.

Not only have Negroes been laboring incessantly for a fair share of the country's wealth but, for several centuries, they worked for nothing, building the South, while Dixie's aristocracy played.

The eminent French historian, Alexis de Tocqueville, wrote in his "Democracy in America" (Vintage Books; $1.45 and worth it) that, "The American of the South is fond of grandeur, luxury and renown, of gayety, pleasure, and, above all, of idleness; nothing obliges him to exert himself in order to subsist; and as he has no necessary occupations, he gives way to indolence and does not even attempt what would be useful."

Just so that there is no question in anybody's mind concerning de Tocqueville's reference being to white Southerners, we have this corroborating point:

"AS WE ADVANCE towards the South, the prejudice that sanctions idleness increases in power. In the states nearest to the tropics there is not a single white laborer."

De Tocqueville hammers away at slavery for producing the economic gap between North and South. Not only did slavery corrupt white Southerners but, since Negro citizens were, in fact, working on "collective farms" for the sole benefit of their white masters, they did not toil as free men do.

Hence, the French writer was struck, as he traveled down the Ohio River, at the difference between what free white labor could produce in Ohio, on the northern bank, and what slavery did to Kentucky, on the southern bank.

On the northern bank, industry prospered, immigrants settled themselves and their families, and business boomed. On the southern bank, the white aristocracy raced horses, passed their time hunting, and wondered why Negro labor was not so productive.

BOTH STAGES were blessed by the same natural waterway; both had wide acreage for cultivation; both had ample resources to support prosperity for many times their numbers. Yet on the northern bank, the Ohio flowed like quicksilver; on the southern bank, like molasses.

Now I suppose the idea of the "lazy" and "indolent" Negro became vogue in the Old South among white dandies riding to the hounds attempting to conceal their guilt. Unfortunately, many whites apparently believe it to this day.

Yet, in city after city—as a study by the National Urban League last year revealed—the overwhelming majority of Negro citizens are still doing the hardest work.

In no city for which official U.S. Census data was analyzed did we find fewer than 50 per cent of all Negro workers engaged in the hardest work, work such as household and service workers and laborers. The further south we got, the "harder" Negroes worked; the more we found them in backbreaking occupations.

Thus, while 53 per cent of Chicago Negroes toiled in these jobs, the corresponding percentage for Atlanta, New Orleans, Memphis, Jacksonville, Tampa, Louisville, Winston-Salem and Miami were all 70 per cent or more.

I THINK the time has come for all white Americans to face reality on this subject. Negroes today want the same opportunity that Northern white people have had since America was born; to learn, to work, and to be rewarded fairly for our labor. In large part, this is what today's "revolution" is all about.

ART BUCHWALD

U.S. Might As Well Give Up Trying To Please De Gaulle

WASHINGTON — After the famous oil fiasco on the Riviera, when the aircraft carrier Shangri La dumped 2,500 gallons of oil on Cannes, the United States has been thinking of ways of making it up to the French.

DIFFERENT PLANS were submitted by various departments. One was to offer the French the New York World's Fair after we had finished with it. Another was to put a Frenchman on the U.S. Supreme Court. Still a third was to buy all France's surplus agricultural products so that it could resolve its differences with the Common Market.

For one reason or another, all the suggested were rejected. But finally the CIA, of all people, came up with a brilliant suggestion.

They decided that one of the nicest gestures the United States could make towards France was to present to President de Gaulle a beautiful, bound photograph album consisting of pictures of his country taken from the air.

These pictures in color would be our way of saying, "We're sorry about the oil, but we hope this album shows you how much we hold your nation in our esteem."

IN ORDER FOR IT to be a surprise for de Gaulle, everyone was sworn to secrecy about the project. The CIA asked the Air Force in Ramstein, Germany, to take the photographs, as they were afraid, if they were taken by any U.S. planes stationed in France, somebody would probably get wind of it.

The top leather binder in the United States was ordered to produced an album worthy of being presented to a head of state.

"Operation Surprise du Chef," as it was called, was put into action. For days American pilots crisscrossed the French countryside taking beautiful photographs with their cameras. When the pictures were developed, a Life magazine editor selected the best ones for the album, and the others were destroyed.

There were a few close calls. Once an American plane was forced down in a French vineyard and the pilot, following instructions, ate a poisoned truffle rather than reveal what he was up to. Another time a pilot parachuted over Chartres, but his cover story, that he always wanted to see what the Chartres cathedral looked like from the air, was accepted by the French authorities without suspicion.

Finally the album was almost completed except for an aerial shot around Pierrelatte in the Rhone Valley, below Lyons. This is one of President de Gaulle's favorite areas in France and it was felt that without a picture of it the book would be incomplete.

So a last plane was sent from Germany for the specific purpose of shooting this lovely, picturesque town. But unbeknownst to the CIA or the Air Force, a French atomic bomb complex is located at Pierrelatte and the French have been very touchy about having it photographed.

As a matter of fact, the French became so angered when the plane started taking the pictures that they demanded the film after the plane landed, and they refused to accept the explanation that the photos were taken as a surprise for President de Gaulle.

EVEN WHEN the Americans produced the inscribed leather album, the French were still skeptical, and instead of appreciating all the trouble the United States went to to give de Gaulle a gift, they sent a stiff note to the U.S. embassy.

President Johnson knew nothing about the surprise and, when he heard what a flap it caused, he was obviously furious. He told the French ambassador, "Ah'm sorry, Mr. Ambassador, all Ah told them to do was take pictures of Mars."

By United Press International

Today is Wednesday, July 28, the 209th day of 1965 with 156 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of President John F. Kennedy was born on this day in 1929.

On this day in history:

In 1932, federal troops drove more than 15,000 unemployed veterans from Washington as they demanded the immediate payment of "war bonuses."

In 1945, an Army B-52-bomber crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City, killing 13 persons and injuring 25.

A thought for the day—President Thomas Jefferson said: "A single zealot may commence persecution, and better men be his victims."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Winning First Finesse Gives You No Guarantee

It's comforting to win a finesse, but don't relax.

If you have shrewd opponents you cannot be sure that the very same finesse will win the next time you try it.

Opening lead — ♡ 9

West opened the nine of hearts, and East refused the trick since South was marked with at least the king-jack-ten of the suit.

TIME ENOUGH

There would be time enough to take the ace if South continued hearts.

As it happened, South was chiefly interested in getting four diamond tricks. He led a club to dummy's ace and returned a diamond to try a finesse with the queen.

West, a shrewd defender, played a low diamond on declarer's queen without giving the slightest indication of thought.

LOSES GAME

South, sure that the king of diamonds was in the East hand, got to dummy with the ace of spades to try another diamond finesse.

West took the king of diamonds, cashed the king of spades and led another spade to let East defeat the contract with two spades and the ace of hearts.

Give West credit or crafty defense, but give South a black mark for relaxing. There was no need to open up the spades, and no reason to relax.

South should begin the diamonds from his hand by leading the ace and then the queen. This would develop four fast tricks if the suit broke normally.

If East showed up with K-10-x-x of diamonds, South could lead a club to dummy's ace to return a diamond. Even after taking a diamond finese South could have prevented disaster by leading the ace of diamond next.

The important thing was to make no assumptions about the king of diamonds when the finesse worked.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ A J 9 6 2
♥ Q 4
♦ 8 7 3
♣ A 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, enough for an opening bid if you have a good major suit and perfect location of the high cards. You would open this hand if you had ♠ A Q J 9 6 and a side ace.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Some individuals are more hairy than others and when you have too much or too little, blame your ancestors. If 100 women with unwanted hair on the upper lip and chin were examined, nothing would be found to account for the growth in 99 of them.

Some specialists believe these women have excessive amounts of male sex hormones in their bloodstream.

We should have the answer soon because it now is possible to measure the amount of testosterone in blood serum. The one person in 100 with a glandular disturbance has an adrenal, thyroid, or ovarian problem. This woman usually develops a hair pattern of male distribution that develops suddenly and is associated with infertility or lack of menstration. The use of certain drugs such as Dilantin is a rare cause. Tension is said to play a role in stimulating the adrenal glands. Cortisone helps under these circumstances.

SKIN IS COVERED with fine down that is thicker in some. Nothing need be done when the hair is fine and blonde; if the color is darker, the simplest treatment is to bleach with hydrogen peroxide and or ammonia water. For coarst hair, the woman has a number of choices.

Egyptian women, for example, used wax for hair removal 4,000 years ago and found it satisfactory. It is said to eventually destroy the hair roots. Shaving has advantages but most women are afraid it will alter the texture of the hair and cause more to grow.

A SMALL PATCH of hair is more easily removed with tweezers or rubbed away with an abrasive such as a fine pumice stone. Many chemical depilatories contain one of the sulfides that kills hair at the surface of the skin.

Electrolysis is a recognized method for eliminating excess hair. This tricky technique should be used by experts only. Too little current has a temporary effect; too much leads to scarring.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self addressed envelope accompanies request.)

MOSQUITO BAIT

E. H. writes: I am extremely sensitive to mosquito bites — the area around the bite swells enormously. Is it true that there is nothing to counteract the reaction but that protective shots can be taken?

REPLY

Protective injections are not necessary. There are dozens of good insect repellents and ointments containing antihistamines or a corticosteroid which relieve itching immediately.

UNUSUAL

J. writes: Is it possible for a person (one of four children) with three youngsters of her own, to have by-passed every childhood disease and be able to contact them at the age of 40?

REPLY

Yes, but usually because measles and chicken pox are highly contagious disorders and difficult to escape.

SUMMER PUFFINESS

A. M. B. writes: Why do feet and ankles swell during hot weather? I have this trouble every summer and can't wear my usual size shoes.

REPLY

The cause of this common complaint among women is not known. Glandular deficiencies and circulatory disorders are possibilities.

Schizophrenic Peach Tree

MINNEOLA, Kan. (AP) — Walter Tedford wonders if his peach tree has a split personality.

Blooms on one side of the tree this spring were different in color than the other side of the tree.

When the blossoms fell he found that one side of the tree had clusters of two and three peaches while the other side had only one peach to each stem.

Since the repeal of prohibition, the Federal excise taxes on distilled spirits have been increased 854 per cent.

Name Coincidence Just Too Munstrous

HOUSTON (UPI) — When a certain sales manager in Houston hands his business cards to prospects, they have trouble restraining a snicker. "Herman Munster," the card says, calling up images of a lumbering, friendly monster of the same name on the television series.

Forty-seven-year-old Herman Munster of Houston said he and his wife have steeled themselves to grin and bear the jokes and phone calls they have to take because of the coincidence. "After all," he said, "there is a difference. I don't have pins in my neck."

'Discovery' Answers Children's Questions

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every parent dreads the moment. Junior, having considered and discarded the stork theory, now fires questions like a district attorney. What to tell him?

Junior learned a lot—and so did his parents. For it is one of the remarkable facts about ABC's "Discovery" series that about half its 8 million viewers are adults either enjoying the awakening of wonder in their children or getting a simple refresher course in facts long forgotten.

It is the fashion these days to knock adult television as imitative and unadventurous. Maybe so. But all three networks can take pride in the time and imagination lavished on programs for the younger generation and the respect accorded their efforts even in Europe which likes to think it leads the world in this important field.

Power stopped off briefly today in his around the world search for material for the next "Discovery" series, starting Sept. 19 (171 ABC-TV stations, noon Sundays EDT) to talk about his new book "How Life Begins" and how he selects subjects that will inform and enrich young—and old—minds.

He is small, dark, intense, highly articulate as one might expect from a Phi Beta Kappa and serenely confident, as one might also expect from a family man who has devoted himself to children's programs on radio and television for 17 years.

"The book," he said over lunch at the Brasserie, "is, of course, a pin-off from the program. Children never come out and ask questions unless there is a stimulus—we provide this by showing the development of the egg and the life processes. Then we stress that most animals mate by instinct and part afterwards. This is a mechanical and frightening concept for a child. So in the book, as in the program, we point out that there is a difference when humans mate, and the difference is love.

"Incidentally," he said, adding from force of habit the tidbits of knowledge attached to every minute of a "Discovery" show, "the only birds that mate for life are the eagle and the Canadian goose."

Power said he aims Discovery at the seven to 12 age group with the idea of giving it a highly palatable mixture of fun, entertainment and knowledge. Contrary to popular belief he is not guided by a phalanx of psychologists ("I question the validity of using psychologists to determine what will attract a child") but he does consider the advice of the National Education Association and the American Library Association.

Weekend College Classes Tried

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A weekend college designed to appeal "to the industrial worker too tired to attend night classes" begins this fall at Miami-Dade Junior College.

Classes will be scheduled in three-hour blocks between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. every Saturday.

In four years, students taking two courses a term — six hours a week — will be able to graduate with an associate of arts or associate of science junior college degree.

Air Conditioning Entirely Too Quiet

Doctors in the Rhode Island hospital in Providence complained to engineers of Borg-Warner's York division that their air conditioning system was too quiet. It failed to muffle street noises; and conversation between adjacent rooms became audible at the sacrifice of privacy. Engineers fixed that by altering the equipment to raise the sound level without changing the comfort performance.

Prisoner Pays To Get To Pen

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sheriff W. W. Ayer was embarrassed.

He was driving a prisoner to the penitentiary and had taken the toll road to get there quicker.

At the last station, Ayer discovered he didn't have enough money to pay the $1 toll.

"If you ever expect to get to the pen," Ayer told his prisoner, "you'll have to loan me 50 cents."

Federal Payroll Off, Johnson Is Pleased

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report that employment in the executive branch of the government is down 602 from the level of last year has brought commendations from President Johnson.

The report, listing employmen at 2,468,663 as of June 30, was made by Budget Director Charles Schultze. Johnson told the Cabinet yesterday he is greatly gratified at the success of an effort to hold down the pay roll.

'Ugly American' Co-Author Weds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — William J. Lederer, co-author of the best selling book "The Ugly American," and Mrs. Corinne Edwards Lewis of Honolulu have been married in San Francisco.

Lederer was divorced in Honolulu last January from his first wife Ethel, to whom he was married for 24 years.

Creative Arts Fete Is Slated By Church

Something new is being tried at Sausalito's Christ Episcopal Church to establish communications between young people and adults.

It is called "Gesture of Creation." The highlight is the Malcolm Boyd play, "The Community."

In the play, according to director L. Stuart Linton of Sausalito, the church is brought in a casket as it were dead. Then it develops it is not the church that is dead but the people.

"These people (the youngsters) raise very pertinent questions," said Linton. "They ask questions of what is the meaning and purpose of life. This is the first time I found these kids capable of expressing themselves. Most of them reject the outward concept of the church."

Linton, who works as a designer, said the festival, to be given at 8 p.m., Saturday and Sunday and Aug. 6 and 7 in Campbell Hall, Santa Rosa and San Carlos Avenues, is part of a community effort to create a forum where young people can speak out and questions can be recognized by adults.

"There is a breakdown of communication between youth and adults . . . there also is a need for some action between Sausalito and Marin City. Demonstration and picket lines are one thing but we have to start living this thing, too."

The church has been invited to take the festival to the Berkeley Seminary, the Unitarian Church in San Rafael, Brown's Hall in Mill Valley and the Presidio of San Francisco, said Linton. "We're hoping to buy an old bus to put the show on the road," he said.

Cast of "The Community," which Linton said was written by the chaplain at Wayne University who is sometimes called the "beatnik priest," includes Frank Trulove, Marianna Adler, Michael Walter, Mardianne Kato of Mill Valley; Tami Bell of Marin City; John George of Fort Baker, and Michael Wiener and Martha Crowell of Sausalito.

Program performers include Robert Diamond, piano; Nancy Dixie Piver, flamenco dancing; Michael Wiener and Marianna Adler, folk singing; Frank Trulove, dramatic reading; Michele Chouinard, Donna Dubain, Mardie Kato, modern dance; Marty Chrisjohn Trio, folk singing, and Paula Morgan, poetry recitation.

An art show, including paintings and photographs by young local artists, will be displayed. Admission will be charged.

Schools Get Site Money From State

The State Allocations Board yesterday approved two grants totalling more than half a million dollars for projects in two Marin County school districts.

Largest share, $377,578, will go to the Fairfax School District to help build an intermediate school on a recently purchased site west of Fairfax.

Supt. Homer Sisk said the money will be matched with $135,371 in district funds to pay for the project.

Also approved yesterday was a $126,704 allocation to the Dixie School District for acquisition of an elementary school site in the San Rafael Park subdivision.

The money, according to Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff, is an initial advance on the cost of the site, exact amount of which has not yet been determined. More money will come after negotiations get under way, he predicted.

Ketchikan, Alaska, is the wettest city in the continental United States being inundated by 150 inches of rain annually, says the National Geographic.

Only Son, 17, Is Serving With Army In Viet Fight

Gary F. Cooper, 17, only son of Mrs. Lena Cooper of 85 Taylor Drive, Fairfax, grew restless last winter, during his senior year at Sir Francis Drake High School.

His complaints were not uncommon among youth his age. He was tired of school and wanted her permission to drop out and join the Army. These days she sometimes wished she had not agreed.

Gary spent six months in basic training and advanced training in a paratroop brigade. Mrs. Cooper was happy with her son's progress. Then, two and a half months ago, the phone rang.

"Mom, I've been assigned to Viet Nam," her young son's voice came over the telephone from his base in Georgia.

"I just froze," Mrs. Cooper said. "It was a tremendous shock and I could hardly think. Now the shock has worn off and I spend every free moment praying for my son."

Pfc. Gary Cooper writes his mother frequently of the action he sees in the Viet Nam jungles. His accounts are enthusiastic. "Every day I get a clearer picture of why we are fighting here," he said in one letter.

GARY F. COOPER

"A paratrooper's life in the jungle is rugged," he wrote, "for the jungle is the Viet Cong's major weapon."

Gary described the Viet Cong as a "tough corps . . . a rough enemy." He also told his mother he has now killed four of those enemies.

In one letter, his mother said, he wrote of a mission against a Viet Cong village in the area known as "Zone D."

"He wrote how he was detailed to lead the squad into the village," Mrs. Cooper said. "He said he ran up to one hut and threw a hand grenade in. He ran on and opened the door of another hut and found two Viet Cong staring out at him. He told me how he shot them."

Mrs. Cooper worries about her son and wishes he were not there.

"He is my only son," she said, "and I think he is entirely too young to be seeing the things he is. He is only 17 and a half years old."

Her opposition to Gary's presence on that distant battleground is heightened by the fact that "I don't think the United States should even be there. It's an unnecessary war and we don't have any business there."

Yet, her son is fighting that war and that fact clouds Mrs. Cooper's opposition to it. She wants President Johnson to send more troops because "there are only a small group of men fighting there now and I think they should be given more support."

By comparison, Pfc. Cooper is enthusiastic about his job, which the Army says will last one more year.

"The paratroopers are considered the toughest and roughest combat soldiers, so we must live up to our name," he wrote. ". . . I belong to the finest fighting unit in the Army. I will strive to uphold the honor and prestige of my unit."

After his one year tour of combat duty in Viet Nam, Cooper plans to return to the United States, but not leave the Army. He wants to train to join the special forces, an assignment which will probably land him right back on that battlefront.

Despite her worry, Mrs. Cooper has resigned herself to Gary's Army life. "I am proud of him and I pray for his safety. He is in God's hands," she said.

Tax Rate Cut 25 Cents For Almonte Area

Almonte Sanitary District directors Monday night set the tax rate for fiscal 1966 at 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a drop of five cents from last fiscal year.

Chairman Robert A. Alexander said the board expects completion of a final agreement with Roto Rooter Sewer Service whereby the district will pay Roto Rooter a fixed monthly amount instead of being billed for emergency service calls.

The sewer service fee will remain the same at $1.50 per month.

Directors, due to conflict in schedules, will next meet Aug. 16. The board will not meet Aug. 23, as regularly scheduled.

Henry IV Special Performance Slated

A special performance of Shakespeare's "Henry IV, Part I," will be presented at 3 p.m. Saturday, July 31 at the Marin Art and Garden Center's amphitheater in Ross.

There will also be a second performance of "Henry IV, Part I" the same day at the regular curtain time, 8:30 p.m.

Budget Session Due

Directors of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District will hold an adjourned meeting to approve a budget for the fiscal year at 8 p.m. today at the Trestle Glen treatment plant.

Peace Corps Work Starts In Turkey

Life abroad is nothing new to Mary Jean Barley, a 21-year-old University of California at Davis honor graduate, who is beginning two years of work with the Peace Corps in Turkey.

Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Barley of 18 Oak Spring Drive, San Anselmo, became interested in Turkey during her second trip abroad as an exchange student in 1963. She spent her junior year of college studying in Bordeaux, France. After the school year ended, she took a summer tour of Europe and the Near East, during which she spent a month in Turkey.

Her other exchange term came in 1960, when she spent a semester of high school study in Christchurch, New Zealand. She graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School in 1961.

Jean took her Peace Corps placement test at Davis in February and requested that she be trained for service in Turkey. After she earned her degree in international relations in June, (with a 3.7 grade point average), she headed for Princeton University and five weeks of intensive study in the Turkish language.

At Princeton she studied the language for 10 hours a day. On June 23 she left New York for Istanbul where she is now undergoing cultural training. In two weeks Jean will be sent to teach English to high school students someplace in Turkey.
